Two Policemen Suspended After Livonia Robbery

LIVONIA (AP) — Michigan's biggest bank robbery — the $153,000 daylight looting Tuesday of the Bank of Livonia's branch — was under investigation today with two policemen suspended on charges of neglect of duty and failure to use good judgment in trying to catch the robber.

James N. Jordan, police chief of this Detroit suburb, said Wednesday Patrolmen Charles Nix, 30, and Archie A. Hewitt would remain suspended pending the outcome of the inquiry.

The patrolmen were in the bank when the robber, armed with a .45 caliber automatic pistol and carrying his loot in a paper bag, fled through a rear door. Police are still looking for him, apparently without a clue. The state's largest previous bank holdup was $65,000 from a Detroit bank branch in 1936.

The officers had arrived at the scene about 20 minutes after the gunman, carrying a .45 caliber automatic pistol, handed the manager, John Hampton, 60, a note. It said "be quiet, this is a holdup."

Meanwhile, the bank president, Guy Spencer, tried to call the branch office from the main office and getting no answer, called police.

When the two patrolmen pounded on the front door, the gunman waved to them that he would open it. Then he fled.

Hewitt and Nix arrived about the same time a bank messenger, William Bruce, arrived at the bank and unlocked the front door.

Bruce said he followed behind the officers when they entered the bank and added that he caught a glimpse of the bandit trying to open a rear door.

Police officials said they were told that both Hewitt and Nix ran past Bruce toward the front door, with Hewitt shouting: "Get out of here. There's been a holdup."

Officers said the bank manager, Hampton, told police officials that he also saw the officers enter the bank then retrace their steps.

Hewitt, who has two departmental citations for arrests, was quoted as saying when asked by Police Capt. Michel Vorigitch why he did not challenge the bandit inside the bank: "I'm no dummy. A .45 makes a big hole."

Formal departmental charges were expected to be filed against the two.

Blast Kills 2, Wrecks Bomber

MORA, N.M. (AP) — A mysterious pre-dawn explosion ripped through a B2 bomber high over northern New Mexico Wednesday, killing two of the six-man crew.

The eight-jet $8-million plane on a routine training mission from Walker Air Force Base, N.M., disintegrated. A survivor said the plane had no difficulty prior to the explosion.

Found dead, strapped in the tail section, was M. Sgt. Burl Dean, 39, gunner from Charleston, W.Va. Also presumed dead was the systems operator Maj. George Szabo, 44. Szabo's body hasn't been found.

An Air Force spokesman indicated there was no doubt Szabo perished in the explosion.

Rescued during a 12-hour search of the rugged, mountainous area were the aircraft's commander, Lt. Col. Donald Hayes, 39, Alta, Iowa; the copilot, Maj. Thomas J. McBride, 41, Panama City, Fla.; the navigator, Maj. Emil Goldbeck, 40, Roswell, N.M.; and the radar operator, Lt. Col. Nicholas Horangic.

The conservation program faces additional cutbacks, state conservation officials said. Declines in license sales, coupled with increased costs, are one reason.

Another is a federal court ruling, reducing the state's share of federal funds from taxes on fishing tackle and sporting arms and ammunition by about $220,000 a year.

Lawmakers were urged to take quick action on authorizing a $3.5 million bond issue for state parks expansion. Some $5 million in bonding has been authorized by the legislature since a state parks fee program went into operation in 1961.

Park authorities report that entrance fees charged parks users are bringing in about $725,000 a year, enough to finance $8.5 million in revenue bonds.

The governor said a $770,000 surplus built up in excess of debt service requirements should be used this year for development of existing parks.

Overcrowding resulted in some 35,000 campers being denied entrance to state parks last year, he said.

Guerrillas Kill U.S. Captain In Viet Nam Clash

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Communist guerrillas shot and killed a U.S. Army captain today in a clash in the coastal mountains about 300 miles north of Saigon.

The officer, who was an adviser to the Vietnamese unit he was with, apparently was the only casualty on the government side.

His identity was not announced.

The fight began when a government force of about 200 men engaged a Viet Cong unit estimated at the same strength. Authorities had received reports the Viet Cong was moving in an isolated region about 40 miles south of Quang Ngai.

The captain's death brought to 55 the number of Americans killed in Viet Nam since the U.S. military buildup began in December 1961.

Meredithe announced at Jackson Wednesday that he would register for the second semester—as J. H. Meredithe, he said, not as a Negro.

"The prospects for him (the Negro) are too unpromising," Meredithe said in a prepared statement read to a news conference.

Congo Casualties

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. force in the Congo suffered casualties of 127 dead and 133 wounded in the Congo operation from July 1960 to the present, the United Nations disclosed Wednesday.

Bands And Soloist In Musical Treat

An outstanding music event will be offered music patrons of the Escanaba area at Wm. Oliver Auditorium here at 8 p. m. Tuesday, Feb. 5, it is announced by Conrad Beck, Escanaba Area Public Schools music department supervisor.

The event will be the mid-winter concert of the instrumental music department of the school and the guest soloist will be Rafael Mendez, considered one of the world's best trumpet players. Mendez is widely known for his appearances on the concert stage, in radio, television and motion pictures. His most recent appearance on television was in the Roy Rogers-Dale Evans show. He will come to Escanaba from a concert in Marquette.

Accompanied by the High School Concert Band and the Junior High School A Band, Mendez will play two solo numbers. The Concert Band is directed by John Chown and the Junior High A Band by David Laakso.

Chown will direct the Senior High Band in three contrasting numbers: Osterling's "Totem Pole," a concert march; Persichetti's "Pageant" will follow, and the group will close with "El Conquistador" by Tarnier.

The Junior High Band, directed by Laakso, will present the Suite for Military Bands in E Flat by Holst, followed by a "Fandango" by Perkins.

Mendez will play "Tico Tico" and "Chapaneas" accompanied by the Senior High Band, and "Macarena" written by Mendez and "Trumpeter's Lullaby" arranged by Mendez, accompanied by the Junior High Band.

Tickets will be on sale at the door. They will be sold on a first come basis.

World Almanac In 78th Year

Events and policies that are changing the map of the world and speeding up the tempo of human life pack the pages of the World Almanac and Book of Facts for 1963. For the 78th consecutive year this annual compilation of global and domestic information supplies the wants of the inquiring student and the reader who needs a perspective on current affairs.

In chronological order the World Almanac describes events and issues that affect the security and welfare of the United States — the expansion of the Communist foothold on Cuba and its relation to the Monroe Doctrine; the fruitless efforts to end nuclear tests and speed disarmament; the intensification of Soviet efforts to get the Allies out of Berlin; the military effort of the United Nations in the Congo.

Domestic Events Many of the events described have a direct bearing on the paths that nations will follow in the next few years. The fighting in Vietnam, the independence and civil upheavals in Algeria, the cession of West New Guinea to Indonesia; the new leadership in Jamaica, and the long battle of free Europe to consolidate the Common Market, are clearly explained in the 1963 volume.

On the domestic front there was much to record. In 1962 President Kennedy faced an uphill battle in Congress; Medical Care for the Aged was shelved, withholding taxes on dividends and savings was defeated, foreign aid had hard sledding and tariff reductions started a sharp controversy. The Attorney General tangled with the Governor of Mississippi over a Negro's effort to enter the university. California staged the most significant political campaign and the November elections brought new faces to public office. A grain storage scandal was uncovered in Texas and the stock market dropped billions in value of securities on a May day that marked the end of the long bull market.

Sports Section One of the most-consulted sections of the World Almanac is devoted to sports. Here are descriptions of the World Series and the records of the big leagues and individual players. Football results for the fall of 1962 are fully given. Horse racing at the major tracks, golf, basketball, track results are published. In boxing not only championship fights but events in other classes are listed.

School Board Gets Equipment

ROCK—The Rock Board of Education met at the school Monday evening. Superintendent George Weingartner showed them the metal lathe and milling machine which the Rock Public school system has received. The lathe is valued at $3,522.00 and the milling machine at $9,950.00.

The machines were obtained through the General Services Administration, Office of Defense, Washington, D. C., under Public Law 883, by Supt. Weingartner, on a loan basis at no cost to the local Board of Education, other than the cost of transportation and insurance. The machines are a valuable asset to the industrial arts department and will be in full operation within a few days. The Board will also receive approximately 58.2 per cent of the cost of a language laboratory which was recently completed in the school under Title III of the Federal Program. It was made across from the Home Ec room and various papers, mimeograph machine, etc., are stored in it. The school is also taking advantage of Title V under the guidance program.

Drivers Education has been started with 27 pupils enrolled. Trooper Al Rajala of the Gladstone State Police Post has been giving instructions on First Aid. The Board discussed the number of basketball games, especially those held on week nights away from home, and went on record as favoring a reduction of such games.

Big Auction Days Coming Feb. 22-23

One of the most exciting sales events in recent years, combining the thrills of auction bidding plus the excitement of outstanding bargains, will be the Escanaba Auction Days to be held Friday and Saturday, Feb. 22-23.

Sponsored by Escanaba merchants members of the retail division of the Chamber of Commerce the Auction Days "will create wide interest by, first of all, offering some real red hot bargains, and secondly, by allowing people to bid for merchandise," said Robert Mosenfelder, Auction Days chairman.

Each participating store will offer at least one piece of merchandise, or combination of items, whose retail value is $10 or more, to be sold to the highest bidder.

The auction item or items will be displayed in the store. Special forms on which the bids will be made by the customers will be prepared by the retail division of the Chamber of Commerce.

Machinists Offered Free Courses With P&H Cooperation

The Kennametal Incorporation, Milwaukee, will present a series of four sessions during February in Escanaba on Cemented Carbide Tools for Supervisors, Foremen, Machinists, Toolmakers, Tool Grinders and Machine Operators.

These sessions will be held the four Saturdays of Feb. 2, 9, 16 and 23, starting at 9:30 a. m. and continuing to 11:30 a. m. in Room 151 of the Junior High School.

Purpose of the free sessions is to further acquaint local machinists with the cemented carbide tools and the latest techniques of grade and standard tool selection, single point tool design and grinding, application of feeds, speeds, depth of cut, chip breakers, milling practices and problems and trouble shooting.

Casey Wyrwas of Kennametal and his engineering staff will present the series using films and other audio-visual devices in their presentation.

This series is being sponsored locally by the Harnischfeger Corp. with the cooperation of the Adult Evening School program. Any interested person may attend and there is no charge for the series.

Interested persons may call Dick Seibert at ST6-6020 or Vern Ihlenfeldt at ST6-4468 for further information.

merce. The bidder will write his name, address, telephone number and offer, and place the bid in a box near the item that is being auctioned.

On Saturday at the close of the Auction Days the highest bidder will be determined and the merchandise will be offered to the highest bidder for the price he bid. Should he decline the purchase, it will be offered the next highest bidder and so on.

In addition to the auction items, each of the participating stores will donate attractive and desirable merchandise of at least $10 value to a jack pot. The jack pot will be displayed at the branch bank of the First National Bank.

Individuals will be permitted to bid on the jack pot at any of the participating stores, and the entire jack pot will go to the highest bidder. Should he refuse the purchase, it will be offered the next highest bidder and so on in the same procedure as outlined for the individual store auctions.

In support of the Auction Days the Escanaba Daily Press will publish a special section in which the jack pot and the special auction items in the individual stores will be featured, plus coupons on which bids may be made and delivered to the participating stores.

The retail division of the Chamber of Commerce invites inquiries concerning Auction Days from merchants, who may call Mosenfelder, Jack Berg or Jack Manning, or the Chamber office.

Farm Pond Values Told By Owners At Soils Meeting

Usefulness of farm ponds not only for watering stock, providing water for fire safety and for recreation but also to give better wildlife habitat was told at the annual meeting of the Delta Soil Conservation District at the Perkins Legion Hall last night.

The panel discussion relating to farm ponds brought favorable comments from three pond owners, George Terrien and Carlton Van Drese of Cornell and Wilbur Goodman of Masonville, who were panel members.

Joseph Vogt, district game supervisor, Department of Conservation, reported on the benefits to wildlife from development of farm ponds, and the discussion leader was Irwin Ten Haken, Soil Conservation Service.

Multiple Uses
The discussion indicated that the pond owners believe they should have made their ponds larger at the time of construction. While livestock watering ponds may be of any size required to serve their purpose, ponds for wildlife must be a minimum of nine acres and if the ponds are large enough they serve all of the purposes better. The ponds also provide ample supply of spray water, a place to swim in summer and skate in winter, and as habitat for fish.

Ten Haken reported to the group on the specifications in the construction of pond sites, the soil types needed for the construction of ponds, and the complications the builders can run into.

The pond on the Van Drese farm was constructed primarily for watering livestock and it has been extensively used the past two summers. In addition the children skate there in winter and ducks frequent the area in summer.

Carlignan Re-elected

Goodman's pond was designed specifically for wildlife. Geese come there as do snipe, cranes and other waterfowl, while deer find the area attractive in summertime.

The pond at the Terrien farm was built in 1961 for livestock watering, entraps run-off water, and is used by geese, ducks and other waterfowl.

Octave Carlignan of Cornell was re-elected a director of the Delta Soil Conservation District at the annual meeting, which was attended by about 135 persons, farmers and others from all parts of the county.

Dan Barron, district chairman, conducted the meeting, and other directors participating in the program were Lewellyn Larson of Danforth and Elmer Lepisto of Rock.

Music by the Perkins School Band entertained the group in advance of the meeting. Lunch was provided by the District and was served by the Perkins Legion Auxiliary.

George Berg, 59, Of Brampton Dies Of Heart Attack

George Berg, 59, of Brampton, died suddenly of a heart attack in front of his home at 9:30 a. m. today.

Mr. Berg was born in January 1904 in Gladstone and was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Berg. His marriage to the former Wanda Harper took place at the Baptist Church in Gladstone in 1931. He was employed as a farmer and woodworker.

Besides his wife he is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Myron (Barbara) Jones, Brampton; one son, Harold, Gladstone; six grandchildren, and three brothers, Edward and Einar, Brampton, and Raymond in California.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete with the Kelley Funeral Home in charge.

House Democrats Offer ADC-U Bill

LANSING (AP)—Ignoring wise-cracks about their apparent lack of efficient communications, House Democrats finally got their bill to furnish Aid to Dependent Children of the Unemployed introduced and packed off to a committee Wednesday.

In a somewhat obsolete written statement, Rep. John Sobieski, D-Detroit, author of the bill, said he hoped it would be "passed and enacted by the end of January."

This, however, was not possible because bills must remain in committee—in this case the Social Aid and Welfare Committee—for five days before being reported out for a floor vote.

The bill had been read earlier for introduction but was held up at the last minute while Sobieski sought some Republican sponsorship. Democrats explained his statement had been prepared at the same time and was not changed.

In Monday night's session, Democratic leaders in both houses demanded that ADC-U bills be reported out quickly or Democrats would have to have them discharged from committee.

Only afterward did they discover that the Senate ADC-U bill hadn't been in committee long enough and the House ADC-U bill was yet to be introduced.

House Minority Leader Joseph

Kowalski, D-Detroit, admitted he "goofed" by not checking signals with Sobieski before making his speech.

In its final form, the bill to enable Michigan to get federal aid for children of unemployed workers carried the names of nine other Democrats and two Republicans.

Sobieski noted that Gov. George Romney, has urged that the legislature pass the enabling legislation, which was rejected on three previous occasions.

"This failure already has cost Michigan's taxpayers, $20 million and with ADC-U now extended for five more years it is more important than ever that this legislation be passed," said Sobieski.

The second minimum wage bill to be introduced in the House—this one calling for a $1.15 minimum—went to the labor committee, which earlier received one calling for a $1.25 minimum wage.

The second bill was co-sponsored by Rep. Lucille McCullough, D-Dearborn, and Rep. Marie Hager, R-Lansing. Mrs. McCullough described the bill as a "compromise."

Other bills filed or introduced in the House:

—A proposal by Rep. Reimr Van Til, R-Holland, requiring public health sanitarians to be registered with the State and to set up an examining board under the State Health Department to license them.

—An amendment to eliminate one-year local residence requirements for persons applying for civil service jobs in cities, villages or municipalities, by Reps. William Boos, D-Saginaw, and Carl Little, R-Saginaw.

Progress Reported Toward Settling Newspaper Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—Mayor Robert F. Wagner today reported progress toward settling the city's 55-day newspaper blackout after an extraordinary 18-hour City Hall negotiations session.

But he said "The parties are still a long way from settling this dispute."

Wagner said several issues in the controversy between publishers and striking printers had been settled.

Several others, he said, had been declared "by the parties to be readily susceptible of settlement."

Krohmer Becomes Pharmacy Partner

Leslie W. Olson today announced admission of Robert L. Krohmer to partnership in the West End Drug Store.

Krohmer, a registered pharmacist, has been with the store for 10 years as pharmacist and manager. The dual ownership becomes effective Friday.

The West End Drug Store at 1221 Ludington St. is 61 years old. It was founded by Sourwine & Hartnett and a few years later was purchased by Claude B. Farrell and Harry Lohmiller. Lohmiller conducted a jewelry store in the building and later moved it to another shop building and Farrell operated the pharmacy until his retirement 10 years ago, Feb. 1, 1953.

Leslie Olson, a native of Escanaba, joined the store in 1936 as a pharmacist and later became a partner of Farrell and operated it as sole owner from 1953.

Krohmer was born in Kingsford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Krohmer, of Kingsford. He attended public schools there and was graduated from Kingsford High School in 1944.

He served in the Army in World War II in Germany and after the war attended Ferris Institute's school of pharmacy. He received his Bachelor of Science degree in pharmacy in 1950 and worked his internship in Kingsford and remained there for two years. He joined the West End Drug Store in Escanaba in 1952.

He is married to the former Juanita Johnson of Iron Mountain and they have three children, a son, Jon and twins Mark and Mary Catherine, and live at 208 S. 4th St.

Mrs. A. J. Harvey Taken By Death

Mrs. Arthur J. (Anna) Harvey, 73, of 923 6th Ave. S., member of a prominent Escanaba family, died unexpectedly at her home today at 7 a.m. after a short illness.

The former Anna M. Villemur was born in Escanaba on Nov. 2, 1889 and has been a life-long and active member of the community. She was a member of St. Anne's Church, the Daughters of Isabella, St. Anne's Social Club, Women's Catholic Order of Foresters, the American Legion Auxiliary and the Gold Star Mothers.

A son, Arthur J. was killed in action in World War II in 1943. Another son, Francis X., preceded her in death in 1934.

Included among the survivors are: her husband, two sons, Charles J. and William T., both of Lansing; two daughters, Mrs. William (Mary Alice) Butler, Escanaba and Mrs. Fred E. (Catherine) Lundgard, Indianapolis, Ind.; three sisters, Mrs. Sylvia Fillion, Mrs. Eva Laviolette and Mrs. Marie DeGrand, all of Escanaba; four brothers, D. F. Villemur, Hollywood, Fla.; Joseph, Newberry; Archie, Rockford, Ill. and Albert of Escanaba; 15 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Friends may call at the Allou Funeral Home after 3 p.m. Sunday. The Daughters of Isabella will recite the rosary at 4 p.m. Sunday and the parish recitation will be held at 8 p.m. Funeral services will be conducted Monday at 9 a.m. in St. Anne's Church, with Mrs. Harvey's nephew, Rev. Matt LaViolette, officiating at the Solemn Requiem High Mass. Burial will be in Holy Cross Cemetery.

City Councils Meet

The Escanaba City Council and the Gladstone City Commission met jointly after the Monday night meeting of the Gladstone Commission in its chambers.

It was the first such joint conference of the governing bodies of the sister communities, although they have been intimately related for most of a century. Nothing earth shaking came out of the fraternizing and joint discussion, but it is to be hoped that the meeting will be prototype for frequent such joint meetings and that closer working relations of the governments of the two municipalities will result.

The historic base of relationship for cities so close geographically as Escanaba and Gladstone is rivalry. This is a wholesome thing and spurs many communities to their best efforts. They do things for themselves under the pressure of outdoing a sister community which they wouldn't do without stimulation of competition.

But the process can have some fruit cake fringes, too. It can engender a competition which is not thoroughly friendly and which is not helpful and our sister communities' relations have not been without evidence of such nuttiness over the years.

The Upper Peninsula (and the rest of America) have many such examples of community duello. It has resulted in fights on the bridges at Menominee-Marquette and Houghton-Hancock and in other places where communities were close enough together to recognize a smirk when they saw one, but not a smile.

The fever that marked the pioneer relationships of some of these twin towns has diminished and many persons no doubt mourn its passing, because it kept life from being dull—there was always a neighboring city to fight with. The current change has been underway for years and was inevitable.

The era of consolidation is upon us and it becomes increasingly apparent that no community is sufficient to itself; that all take strength from other communities and that it behooves them to make their relationships as intimate and as profitable and progressive as possible.

This process has resulted in school district consolidations and in a general trend toward concentration of industry, government and other activities. Self-sufficiency is not only no longer needed by American communities, it is not even desirable, because neighbors can often provide services, goods or other needs more advantageously than the home community. Sharing is the theme today. Boundaries are disappearing. Our horizons are immensely stretched and to realize their promise it is desirable to put up welcome signs at the city limit and to take down the gate.

The cooperation of city government at the top level formalizes a cooperation which has existed as a working relationship for a long time. It is a good and promising thing and let's have more of it.

Automotive Lemmings

A forum of nine panelists in Washington, managed to discuss the nation's "transportation crisis" for two hours with hardly a mention of the private automobile.

Yet everyone agrees that the motor car has had immense impact on the country's changing transportation patterns. And government studies suggest that effect will be even greater in the next 12 to 15 years.

At the last official check there were 63 million private passenger vehicles on streets and highways. The figure including trucks and buses was nearly 76 million. At the end of World War II the overall total was 31 million, with some 22 million private cars.

Passenger automobiles in 1960 traveled close to 600 million vehicle-miles. In 1945 the figure was 200 million.

Henry Shryock of the Census Bureau points out that two-thirds of all U. S. workers use a car in getting between home and work. In the metropolitan areas of 100,000 or more people, 82 per cent of those who commute to central cities rely on cars.

The official population projections for the years up to 1975 indicate, of course, still further concentrations of our population in urban regions. By 1975, it is estimated, 150 million Americans may live in the 212 largest metropolitan areas. That is just 38 million less than the total U.S. population today.

Bureau of Public Roads officials suggest, furthermore, that passenger car registrations—and motor travel—may in the same span rise considerably faster than population itself.

The great push to the suburbs is, naturally, a key factor in all this growth. Only the motor car has proved quickly adaptable to the transportation needs of sprawled-out urban centers.

Not everybody thinks the suburban revolution will continue apace. One A. F. Parrot of the American Statistical Assn. suggested in 1960 that the movement is slackening. But Census officials argue that there is scant evidence of this so far.

Meantime, the crush in transportation seems merely to get worse, as does the cost of trying to ease it. Fancy million-dollar-a-mile urban beltways open one day and two months later chalk up bumper to bumper rush hour loads.

If there is a "transportation crisis," it is fair to suggest that this is it. And even those gatherings of experts which do mention the motor car appear to have no ready solutions.

Proximity And Schooling

Michigan State University is in Ingham County, which had 211,296 population in the last census. The county sent 4,585 students to MSU for the fall term of 1961.

Neighboring Wayne (Detroit) County, population 2,666,297, sent 2,881 students to MSU, although it has Wayne State University and University of Detroit.

Kalkaska County in the top of the Lower Peninsula, with 4,882 population, sent 9 students to MSU, and its neighbor, Crawford County, with 4,971 population, sent 9.

In the Upper Peninsula, Marquette County, with 56,154 population and with Northern Michigan College, sent 46 to MSU, and Houghton County, with Michigan Tech at Houghton, and population of 35,654, sent 37 to MSU. Chippewa County, with 32,655 population and a branch of Michigan Tech at the Soo, sent 67 to MSU.

Delta County, with no college of its own, no branch of another institution of higher learning, sent 36 persons to MSU. It has 34,298 population. This is not a good showing. Dickinson County, with over 10,000 fewer population, sent as many students to MSU as Delta did. Mackinac County, with only 10,853 population, sent 23.

Michigan State University is not the complete gauge of Delta's participation in higher education by student enrollment. Delta sends students to other universities and to many colleges. But so do other counties. The situation indicates the serious need for the Bay de Noc Community College now being organized for the Delta County area.

Sour Note

Edson In Washington

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON—(NEA) — The most complete overhaul of United States tax rates in 20 years, just proposed to Congress by President Kennedy, is an apparent effort to give some relief to every bracket of taxpayers. That should win the new program much popular support and make it easy to pass. But it probably faces a long, hard road with many amendments before it becomes law.

Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon is scheduled to present draft legislation to the House Ways and Means Committee Feb. 6. Chairman Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., says there will be six weeks of hearings and two months of committee work marking up the bill before its presentation to the House for approval.

That should be about May 15. Allow three months for Senate action and couple of weeks for Senate-House conferences to iron out differences and it is close to Sept. 1. So if a new tax bill has been signed into law before third-quarter payments are due Sept. 15, it will be a miracle.

The President's message calls for part of the tax reduction to be made retroactively effective as of Jan. 1, 1963. That means a huge refunding operation. But many taxpayers will feel the effect as soon as payroll taxes withheld by their employers are reduced under the new law.

Another step in the reduction program would be made effective Jan. 1, 1964. Included at this time would be 21 structural tax reforms of an extremely technical nature, if they are approved by Congress. The next tax reform program would then become fully effective Jan. 1, 1965, except for the acceleration of tax payments by large corporations, which would be adjusted over a five-year period to cushion the impact.

There is bound to be considerable tax confusion in this period, with rates changing every year. The reason given for gradual reduction is that the incidence of coronary heart disease. The only explanation to be found was that the Irish led a more active outdoor life than did those in this country.

Since cigarette smoking is known to cause the arteries to become constricted it is advisable, if you must smoke, to limit consumption to not more than a pack a day. If any of the usual warning signs occur, such as pain in the region of the heart, attacks of faintness, shortness of breath with minor exertion or unexplained attacks of nausea, you should see your doctor.

These signs do not necessarily mean that you have heart trouble but they do mean that heart trouble should not be ruled out. If you have high blood pressure, there are effective means of keeping it within normal limits. This is good prevention, because high blood pressure means that your heart is pumping the blood through your system against an increased resistance. This added burden will cause your heart to wear out sooner than it should.

It cannot be denied that many a moderately severe heart attack has acted as a timely warning. If such a warning is heeded, the victim can make a good recovery. Then, under proper guidance, he can avoid an early and possibly fatal recurrence and have many years of productive life.

Another help is to get physical exercise every day. Dr. Stare recently compared a group of Irishmen living in this country with their brothers who had remained in Ireland. He showed that although the brothers in Ireland ate more starches and more fat, they weighed 15 per cent less than those in this country, and they had a blood cholesterol level that was about 10 per cent less. Furthermore, they had only half form is that putting all changes into effect at the same time would cause too big a budget deficit at once, and cause too big a shock to the economy.

Details of the new program are so complex that any attempt to review or even list all the changes in this limited space would be futile. In general, they are reductions first given in the President's State of the Union message.

In summary, tax savings would be 40 per cent for people with adjusted gross income below $3,000, falling by a graduated scale to 10 per cent for incomes over $50,000. Filing returns would be simplified for 60 million taxpayers.

The tax problems of small business, the aged and working mothers with dependent children would be given special treatment.

Preferences formerly given to higher income taxpayers receiving dividends and capital gains or excessive deduction allowances would be curbed.

Whether the program will do all the things the President says it will is open to question.

The President again puts tax reduction as the most important business before the new Congress. Tax cuts will naturally increase consumer spending by individuals as soon as their withholding taxes are reduced. Further investment by corporations should go up, after their taxes go down in 1964.

Whether tax reduction alone will step up economic growth and the output of goods and services by several times the amount of the tax cut—$13.6 billion over three years—will have to be demonstrated.

Tax cuts alone can hardly cure unemployment nor guarantee full employment. Tax reduction does not necessarily mean that there will be price stability, an end to inflation and permanent solution of the international balance-of-payments gap.

From many places will be heard demands that government spending must be cut, too, for fiscal responsibility.

Letters To The Press

Contributions to this column are welcome. They must be limited to 250 words and signed with name and address, but names will be withheld on request.

I was most pleased to read the Escanaba Daily Press' editorial "Safety Means More" in the Jan. 26 issue. It was reassuring to see this rare achievement given the significance it justly deserves.

Harnischfeger Corp. has historically been a company concerned with the wellbeing of its employees. However, as the firm has grown in size and scope, it has become increasingly difficult to demonstrate on a personal basis this genuine concern for employee wellbeing. This is particularly true now with fringe benefits so taken for granted and systemized that there is little room for the personal attention that once prevailed.

Safety is one goal that we as a company can still work side-by-side with employees to attain. It has been a particularly rewarding association in Escanaba where supervision and employees have made attainment of this goal a cooperative achievement.

The safety of every employee in Escanaba is a responsibility we have long accepted and one that we now take great pride in meeting.

Sincerely,
Henry Harnischfeger

Housing Discrimination Is Viewed By Realty Official

By EUGENE P. CONSER
In Realtor's Headlines

More than passing interest is being displayed around the country in speculation as to the possible effects of the President's issuance of his long expected "executive order" to bar racial and religious discrimination in housing which is "assisted" by some form of federal grant, loan, guarantee, or insurance. The speculation is healthy as it exposes to the light of day a subject only too frequently confined to whispered conversations in dark corridors.

Many home builders say the order's most immediate and severe impact will be on subdivision development. They say merchant builders who develop large tracts will be hurt because most people, given complete freedom of choice, will avoid buying in newly developing areas where they cannot determine at the time who their immediate neighbors will be. Instead, they will choose an already settled neighborhood where their immediate neighbors can be known.

Some builders, on the other hand, who build for the custom market, say their business will be increased by building for people who find their own still-vacant lot in a well-settled neighborhood.

All this would indicate that builders who have been sounding out their potential market under the restrictions they assumed would be imposed by the anticipated executive order have discovered that the majority of their potential customers admit privately to some degree of racial or religious prejudice. If this is true, then the President's order will have much more effect in curtailing the volume of home building than in expanding minorities' freedom of choice in housing. For the real question at issue is not integration—or segregation—in housing. This is only the surface manifestation of the issue—which is racial and religious prejudice.

Some people who disclaim prejudice admit to exercising "preferences" in the selection of their housing. They are not prejudiced against anything, but given a choice of locations, they exercise their "preference" for reasons that may be carried only in their hearts. Realtors recognize this and know that sales effort directed to overcoming an unexpected prejudice is effort lost.

Realtors know also that behind the slow and quiet exodus of people from a changing neighborhood is an often undisclosed—and sometimes vociferously disclaimed—prejudice. Whether this attribute of the human personality will change under the pressures of federal law can be only the subject of continuing debate and speculation.

In the meantime, since the federal government has pre-empted this field of law, the states can retire from efforts in the same field. Application of the federal order will await issuance of regulations by the agencies involved. The order will apply to grants, loans, guarantees, and mortgage insurance issued on and after its effective date—Nov. 20. It will not apply to housing on which previously issued grants, loans, guarantees, or insurance is in effect, but will relate to any refinancing thereof.

If prejudice continues to exist, that fact will become apparent in curtailment of housing, finance that is federally assisted, in extension of conventional financing and privately issued mortgage insurance, and in demand for existing housing in the older, established neighborhoods. If prejudice will have been overcome by the issuance of this order, then there should be no noticeable change in market patterns. Only the future will tell.

Democrats Call For Big Michigan Building Program

LANSING (AP) — Democratic party leaders have come up with part two of their priority legislative program for 1963, proposing a three-year, $55 million building program and calling on Republicans for bi-partisan support.

The latest proposals were outlined in a joint statement by Lt. Gov. T. John Lesinski, Senate Minority Leader Charles Blundy, House Minority Leader Joseph Kowalski and State Chairman Joe Collins.

Labeling their proposals as a "building for progress" program, the Democrats said the plan is aimed at the creation of more jobs, an all-out attack on mental illness and meeting fully "the needs and demands of our young people for education."

They declared: "To those who would say Michigan cannot afford this program, we say: Michigan cannot afford not to undertake 'building for progress' now."

"The necessity for total commitment to economic expansion, the pressure of the tragically high number of retarded children on the hospital waiting lists and the crisis in education cannot be ignored. Michigan must act now."

Legislation necessary to enact the program will be presented to the legislature, the Democrats said.

"We would welcome the bi-partisan support necessary to put this plan into action immediately," they added.

The Democratic program calls for revenue bonding totaling $54,044,500 and general fund appropriations of $1,285,000.

Although current capital outlay projects are not specifically included in the program, it is based on a fully accelerated continuation of construction previously started. They called for the creation of more jobs through expansion of research and training facilities at Michigan's colleges and universities.

"Michigan is ambitious to create more jobs, to secure greater dollar profits and to obtain a larger proportion of the gross national product. To this end, we must expend more for higher education as a capital investment in itself," they declared.

Education Needs Stressed
An all-out attack on mental illness and mental retardation, they said, should include a program to provide the research and care facilities necessary to sustain such an attack.

The Democratic proposals call for construction of facilities with 1,070 beds for the mentally retarded, a new outpatient service facility for the education and treatment of the retarded, and a research center for investigation into the cause of mental retardation. Also included is long-range planning for a new 1,000-bed facility to care for retarded patients.

In addition, they recommended construction of facilities with 140 beds for emotionally disturbed children, and special children's facilities of 160 beds for the mentally ill.

Included in the Democratic program for meeting the "needs and demands of our young people for education" was construction of the educational facilities they said are required to overcome what they termed the crisis in higher education.

Soviet Spaceman's 'Stardust Melody'

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet tunesmiths have turned out a new "Spaceman's Song," a sort of a stardust melody that extols the flights to the planets but says the earth is the best place after all.

With words by V. Voinich and music by O. Feltsman, the first chorus goes:

My friends, I am sure
There soon will come a day
When trains of our rockets
Will speed to each star.
On new worlds, our footsteps
Will trace out a way
Through stardust that lies there on far.

And the last chorus is:
A long time they've been waiting.
For us, those far-off planets,
For us, those frigid planets
While silent stardust whirled.
But never did a planet
Build such a ship and man it.
And give us such welcome
As did our dear old world.

FACILITATES FILING
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State University's popular nursery school for 3 and 4-year-olds, which has a waiting list of 200, used to accept applications before the child was born.

But it doesn't any more, says Dr. Helene Heye, chairman of the division of family and child development in the School of Home Economics.

She says: "Now we insist that he or she has arrived before we fill out a registration card... so we know whether to use a pink or blue one, for one thing."

How To Live Under Stress

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise
Food and Markets Editor

Many teen-agers worry themselves into overweight. They live in a state of emotional strain. They worry about the difficulty of getting into the college of their choice, about the military service ahead of them, about getting a job when they are through school. They know their parents are tense, too, living in the shadow of nuclear war. This tension affects the children.

Such emotional stress makes many of you teenagers feel frustrated. You see no sense in making an effort to live a more active life. You accept the philosophy of do-nothing and just sit around.

One result of this widespread inertia is a steady increase in overweight among young people.

Medical men and nutritionists warn that this is a threat to our national health. They are striving to combat it with scientific knowledge and nutrition education.

Dr. H. W. Sebrell Jr., director of the Institute of Nutrition Sciences at New York's Columbia University, urges nonactive teenagers to realize that exercise relieves tensions and helps keep weight down.

Exercise

"Routine exercise, not necessarily strenuous, is very important in your adolescent years," he states. "It improves circulation, makes you sleep better, tones your muscles."

Just between us girls

the best macaroni you can use for casseroles, salads, or for pour-over sauces... is Creamettes. But keep it quiet! People think that I've got a secret formula!

Sound family breakfast is a good way to start the day

cles, helps stabilize you emotionally. Certainly, it is vitally important to you if you are getting fat because of inactivity and a gloomy outlook on life."

Stressing the basic rule for weight control in young people—more exercise and fewer calories—Dr. Sebrell comments on snacks this way:

"As adolescents in a period of structural development, it is natural that you should be hungry most of the time. But why, when you are already overweight, do you continue to eat snacks that are mainly fat and carbohydrates and very little else?"

"I wish I could persuade your parents to give you a larger allowance to spend on snacks. Then you might select hamburgers, grinders or milk drinks, snacks that contain protein as well as carbohydrates. Or sandwiches made of thinly buttered enriched bread filled with cheese or meat or tuna. This is real food—good food—food you like, too. But it does cost more than candy bars and sweet pop."

That's why it makes nutritional sense for your parents to give you more money (or for you to earn it) to spend on snacks that satisfy your body needs instead of those cheaper ones that add little more than unneeded calories."

The doctor believes that well-planned family meals that are not overloaded with sweets contribute to emotional stability of adolescents and also make it easier for them to control their weight.

"Eating with your family gives you a sense of security."

"If you are very fat, still eat with them. But limit yourself to one serving of meat and vegetables, skip the pie in favor of an apple or orange, and drink non-fat milk instead of whole milk which has many more calories. Then go out and take a walk or attend some pleasant school activity. You won't feel so pessimistic about the state of the world or your own future. You may even decide that life can be worth living and that it is time you got on your feet and started living it."

Morning Rush

A recent survey of overweight teen-agers conducted by the School of Public Health at the University of California also revealed that many girls and boys feel insecure and frightened by world events. Many of them said that life seems too frantic, that there is no time to eat a leisurely meal anymore, either in the school cafeteria or at home.

"I think I could face the day feeling less tense if my mother would prepare breakfast and sit down and share it with me. The school dietitians tell us that a good breakfast of fruit juice, cereal, bread, and milk is important to anyone trying to lose weight."

"But in our house, everyone is in a rush in the morning, acting as if this was to be their last day on earth. So I skip breakfast and

Tech Students Are Preparing Carnival

HOUGHTON — Michigan Tech students insist their winter carnival is the biggest and best collegiate cold weather affair in the nation, and they are busy at work this week to prove it.

Although still a week away, Feb. 6-9, a considerable amount of work has already been done in initial preparations—particularly on the snow statues. Great masses of snow have been piled at various locations on the campus, and in only a matter of days these hulking gobs of frozen slush, snow and lumber will be transformed into finely detailed snow sculptures.

The carnival gets underway Wednesday night, Feb. 6, with the first showing of the 1963 stage revue in Hancock High School Auditorium. The winter carnival queen will be crowned during intermission.

Merv Griffin Show Doomed

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—George Maharis, who has been off CBS' "Route 66" since last Nov. 6, recuperating from hepatitis and exhaustion caused by returning to work too soon, is beginning to feel better. But he won't return to his costarring part until he is completely well.

"I don't know when that will be," Maharis said. "It might be two months or it might be six. But no matter how long it takes, I won't go back until I am well."

Meanwhile, the adventure series about two young men and a sports car continues to roll along with half its cylinders missing. Martin Milner, Maharis' costar, will be traveling alone for awhile, although so far, Maharis' absence has been concealed rather well. The ailing Maharis is still bitter about what he considers strong pressures to push him back into the show, which is filmed on locations all over the country.

"I'd like to get back to work," he said. "But my doctors say it isn't wise yet — not traveling around the country, living in motels and not being near doctors who can watch me. When I feel 100 per cent, I'll be ready to work 100 per cent."

NBC, in an effort to strengthen its daytime programming, (whose ratings have been running a poor second to CBS) will drop "The Merv Griffin Show" and "Young Doctor Malone," one of the oldest soap operas, on March 29.

They will be replaced April 1 by a new series, set in a children's hospital, about a young pediatrician; by an adventure series about a young criminal lawyer and by a new audience-participation game show.

The saddest aspect of the shift is the cancellation of the Griffin show, patterned after Jack Paar's old program, which started this fall to the most enthusiastic critical notices of any new NBC program, day or night.

The game show, "You Don't Say" will have a panel (including the usual celebrities, of course) identifying "familiar personalities" from incomplete sentences. It will be produced in Hollywood by Desilu—Lucille Ball's production company's first try in this area.

Merv Griffin and Young Dr. Malone have fiercely loyal fans, and NBC is going to get some violent complaints.

Coast Guard Nips Cruise To Haiti In Home-Made Boat

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Coast Guard has halted a missionary band's plan to sail to Haiti by declaring its 101-foot home-made boat unseaworthy.

But the Rev. Howard A. Smith, leader of the crew of nine adults and three children, said he'll appeal Tuesday's ruling to higher Coast Guard authorities.

Smith, 51, is pastor of the Calvary Church of the Full Gospel, a 250-member offshoot of the late Aimee Semple McPherson's Four-square Gospel organization, at Wilminston, Calif.

"I made a trip to Haiti on a missionary venture," he told a reporter, and the outcome was a plan to build a boat and load it with beds, clothing, machinery, etc., to establish training centers. Smith and members of his congregation, starting 21 months ago, built the vessel. Cash donations of $25,000 went for cedar plank, marine plywood, two diesel engines and other materials and equipment.

Smith said it looks like "a glorified PT boat."

Coast Guard officers went aboard Tuesday and cited Smith "for inadequate and unsatisfactory lifesaving and fire-fighting equipment."

Will 1965 Jam Up Michigan Colleges?

By DWIGHT PITKIN

The post-war babies of 1946-48—now teen-agers crowding the high schools—soon will be flocking to the colleges seeking a higher education in a technological age.

For some time Michigan school administrators have been planning how to handle this tidal wave. They estimate the number of applicants for college entry will double in the 1964-65 period.

Dr. Lynn M. Bartlett, superintendent of public instruction, said all of Michigan's state supported universities and colleges will be faced with a terrific problem. Approximately 80 per cent of the college students in Michigan are in state supported schools.

Enrollment in the state's nine schools for higher education now is around 109,000, an increase of almost 23 per cent since 1958.

Not Fast Enough

Facilities are being expanded but not at the rate desired by school administrators. Bartlett noted that the state schools requested $78,271,590 last year for new buildings and got $14,273,638 from the legislature.

Bartlett pointed out that it takes at least two years to complete a school building.

Dr. John A. Hanna, president of Michigan State University, said the legislature has not faced up to the problem of providing new facilities.

There is still time to provide facilities for the big bulge in enrollment if the legislature acts quickly, Hannah said. But he added there is no time to waste because "it takes about two years to turn money into useful facilities."

Hanna said a 20 per cent increase can be expected in the freshman class of 1964 but he said that doesn't mean the whole enrollment jumps 20 per cent immediately. That means, he said, there is still time to start an expansion program.

Supt. Bartlett said enrollment could be curtailed by raising college entry standards, but he declared it would be "a tragedy" to eliminate many fine young people from an opportunity for higher education.

Junior Colleges Help

Merritt M. Chambers, visiting professor of higher education at the University of Michigan, said theoretically the university could handle a half more students by operating the year round.

"It won't happen for a number of reasons," he said. "We have been running a summer session with half as many enrolled as for a regular semester. People think of going to college in the fall. Success will depend very greatly on something we don't know about. Will the people flock in? They won't right away. It will take several years to find out."

Michigan will have a tenth four-year college next fall when Grand Valley College opens its doors at Allendale in Ottawa County 12 miles west of Grand Rapids. It is expected to enroll at the start approximately 240 students.

Bartlett and other school administrators believe the state's expanding system of junior, or community, colleges may absorb many of the youngsters clamoring for college entry.

"There has been a fantastic growth in the community college enrollment," Bartlett said.

Michigan now has 16 junior colleges with an enrollment of 35,000 in the freshman and sophomore years. Another junior college will open in Wayne County this fall.

Plant Outgrown

In 1961, the junior and community colleges asked the legislature to appropriate $5 million for buildings and got $1 million. In 1962, they asked and obtained an appropriation of $1,281,250.

The Community College at Muskegon, which was founded in 1926, has completely outgrown its original plant and now operates in 11 buildings, including portions of the YWCA, the public library and art gallery. Only 65 per cent of its students come from Muskegon while 35 per cent are from surrounding communities. Muskegon County voters are expected to ballot this spring on a proposal to create a countywide community college district, provide money for buildings and operation, and set up a board of control.

Other communities have plans for expansion of their junior colleges.

U-M's Chambers, former executive director of the Michigan Council of State College Presidents, said junior colleges can take the pressure off the big universities and put the college where the students live. He said junior colleges can offer liberal arts and technical or sub-professional courses. He said a wide variety of programs can be offered students who might flunk out in a liberal arts course. Chambers also suggested a dual education program where a skill worker can upgrade himself by learning the things he wants.

Must Be Selective

U-M's associate professor of sociology, David Golberg, who is program director of the Institute for Public Administration, said it would be a greater error for Michigan to admit everyone who wanted to go to college.

"We will be even more selective in the future," he said. "It can't be avoided and maintain quality."

"We're getting better students each year. They're fantastically bright."

Golberg declared that barring out-of-state students would harm the quality. He noted that pressures are being exerted more each year to bar them.

The pressure could be lessened, he said, if there were other institutions to accommodate students who do not measure up to the university's high entry standards.

Delta Invested $584,239 In '62 In Saving Bonds

Delta County residents invested $584,239 in Series E and H savings bonds during 1962, announced John L. Greene, chairman of the Delta County Savings Bond Committee.

The 1962 total represented 79 per cent of the county's Treasury-assigned goal for the year. The 1961 figure was $756,739.

Combined purchases of E and H bonds for the state amounted to $20.3 million in December. This brought the year's total to $241,708,380, equivalent to 87.2 per cent of the 1962 quota of $277.1 million and compared with a total of $260,265,000 in 1961.

Michigan E bond buying for the year was at the $223.3 million level, off 2.2 per cent from that for 1961. H bond purchases of $18.4 million in 1962 were down 42.4 per cent from the previous year's total of $31.9 million.

The value of all E and H bonds outstanding reached a new record high of $45,499 billion on Dec. 31, a gain of more than a billion dollars during the year.

Purchases of the two series during 1962 for the entire country amounted to $4,278 million, 5.7 per cent lower than in 1961.

Redemptions in 1962, including $754 million earned interest on retired E bonds, totaled $4,636 million, 3.4 per cent above 1961. This was the smallest amount of bond cashing for any of the past eight years except for 1961 when the figure was $4,484 million. Redemptions in 1962 as a per cent of the amount outstanding averaged less than one per cent a month.

Negaunee Boy Impaled On Steel Rod Is Recovering

By KENNETH S. LOWE
NEGAUNEE — Gregory Rose looked death in the face and stared it down.

The nine-and-a-half-year-old boy is recovering at his home here after having fallen on a two-foot steel rod that pierced his chest, throat and head.

Medical authorities call his escape from death amazing. They say his battle for survival is being won against tremendous odds. The boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Rose, survived an accident in which a shaft of steel penetrated his body below his right arm pit and emerged in front of his left ear, traversing his upper chest and neck, but miraculously missing numerous vital organs, including his lungs, windpipe and jugular vein.

Gregory's ordeal began on the afternoon of Dec. 6. He had returned home from St. Paul's School, where he was a pupil in the fourth grade, and was walking down the stairs to the basement to play. His mother called to advise him to put on a sweat shirt because it was cold in the basement.

Lost Footing
Gregory, standing six stairs from the basement floor, turned to reply to his mother when he lost his footing and pitched off the stairs, falling on the pointed end of a vigil light holder that was standing on a children's table at the foot of the stairs.

Despite the fact that 19 inches of the two-foot rod had pierced his entire body, Gregory grasped the cup-like portion of the holder that was protruding under his right arm and walked ramrod stiff up the stairs.

His mother, who fortunately is a nurse by training, decided she could have her son driven to Francis A. Bell Memorial Hospital in Ishpeming faster than an ambulance could be summoned to carry out the mission.

Gregory stepped into the car by himself and sat upright in the front seat while they made the harrowing trip from Negaunee to Ishpeming, a distance of about two miles. He was taken directly to the X-ray room.

Rod Removed
After studying the X-rays, Dr. Archie Narotzky of Ishpeming removed the rod from Gregory's body. He said that the boy never lost consciousness during this period of crisis until he was given an anesthetic prior to having the rod extracted.

"About 10 hours after the rod

was removed," Dr. Narotzky said, "Gregory started showing evidence of a stroke due to injury to the carotid artery, the large blood vessel that supplies nourishment to the brain. Then he began to be paralyzed on the right side and lost his power of speech. He also tended to lose consciousness. At about 10 the following morning it was recognized that Gregory needed neuro-surgical treatment."

It was decided that the boy was to be flown to Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., aboard a locally chartered plane, but — because of icing conditions — the plane could not make the flight. Dr. Narotzky then called Col. Daniel P. McLean, commander of the K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base, to learn if any military aircraft were available for the flight.

Plane Provided
"I'll call you back in five minutes," Col. McLean told the physician. In less than five minutes he called back, saying a plane would be ready in 10 minutes.

Gregory's parents, the physician and Miss Julienne Miller, operation room supervisor at Bell Hospital, accompanied Gregory to Sawyer AFB in the ambulance. The party was met at the base by an escort that led the way directly to the runway, where a C-47 was waiting to make the flight to Rochester.

Mr. and Mrs. Rose flew with Gregory to Rochester, accompanied by the 56th Air Force Hospital emergency team composed of Dr. (Capt.) Ronald Klester, Nurse (Capt.) Ann DeStefano and S/Sgt. Andres (Sandy) Santiago, hospital corpsman. The plane was piloted by Capt. Doyle Chapman, with Maj. Henry Begdanski as co-pilot.

Two hours after takeoff in extremely cold weather, the C-47 touched down at Rochester, where a Mayo Clinic ambulance met the party and rushed Gregory to St. Mary's Hospital.

Clot Removed
There a team of neurosurgeons was waiting to perform the operation to remove a clot in the carotid artery, the only major part of Gregory's anatomy that was seriously damaged in the strange accident.

The operation apparently was highly successful, but Gregory was required to remain in the intensive care unit for four days and was fed intravenously for more than 10 days.

His power of speech was lost and his power of movement greatly impaired. In effect, he had to learn to speak, write and walk almost entirely anew.

However, on Dec. 23 Gregory was able to be returned to Bell Hospital. His father, a shift engineer at the Upper Peninsula Generating Co.'s Presque Isle plant in Marquette, used a station wagon to make the trip back to Ishpeming. He used an air mattress that could be propped up like a hospital bed to transport Gregory.

The boy was permitted to spend Christmas Day at home, but was returned to Bell Hospital on Dec. 26 and remained there until Jan. 18, when he was sent home as an out-patient of the hospital.

Many Helped
Scores of persons extended helping hands to the Roses after the accident. Mrs. George Sivula, school nurse, arranged for a bed to be set up in the Rose home through the auspices of Negaunee members of the American Cancer Society. Waino Luha of the Negaunee Veterans of Foreign Wars arranged for the loan of a wheel chair for Gregory. St. Luke's Hospital in Marquette loaned equipment that was used in bringing Gregory home from St. Mary's Hospital. Kenneth Niemi of Ishpeming loaned Gregory a television set with an automatic channel selector for use as long as the boy wants it. The Roses are deeply grateful for the services of Dr. Narotzky, the staff at Bell Hospital and the Air Force, which offered all of its emergency services without charge.

What are Gregory's chances of recovery from this remarkable accident?

He already has made great strides, helped largely by his excellent attitude. His parents say he has been very cooperative with medical authorities, wants no sympathy and has exhibited a great deal of determination to overcome the handicaps inflicted upon him by the accident.

His speech is well-advanced. The first word he was able to enunciate following his accident was "Mi." Later he was able to say "Mommy." Now, sometimes with a bit of difficulty, he is able to utter almost all the words in his pre-accident vocabulary.

Miss Elizabeth Tassone of Ishpeming, the boy's speech therapist, incorporated his school studies with speech therapy to help him keep pace with his classmates at St. Paul's.

Gregory returned to school on a part-time basis this week. He has learned to write left-handed. He does this haltingly, but with steady improvement.

The boy has graduated from a wheelchair to crutches to a cane. He still wears braces, but hopes eventually to be rid of them. Asked about Gregory's progress, Dr. Narotzky said: "The speech therapist is quite encouraged, and because Gregory is so young it is expected he will have good recovery. The physical therapists are finding progressive recovery. Youth is on his side."

Gregory smiles proudly as he demonstrates how he can stand and walk with aid of cane and braces. Bed-ridden at first, he graduated to a wheel chair and then crutches before being able to navigate with a cane. (Mining Journal Photo)

Animals Perish In Windsor Fire; Loss $125,000

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP)—Fire of unknown origin raged through a show horse stable in suburban Sandwich South Township today, killing 11 animals and causing damage estimated at more than $150,000.

The blaze at the stables of Dr. Alfred Thomas, of Detroit, was discovered by a motorist passing the cement block building 10 miles south of Windsor.

Flames fanned by a light east wind licked through the T-shaped structure before the horses or a prize registered cow in calf could be led to safety.

Thomas—a veteran horse breeder for 30 years—estimated the loss of his animals at $125,000. Four other mares in foal which were being cared for at the rear of the building were led to safety through dense smoke.

Brothers Named Top Beet Growers

EAST LANSING (AP)—Two brothers from Monroe, Morley and Charles Oerther, were named the top sugar beet growers in the state for producing an average of 27.5 tons per acre at the 48th annual Farmers Week at MSU.

The award for the grand champion steer went to Mohogany Farms of Williamston for a black angus named Mr. Mohogany III.

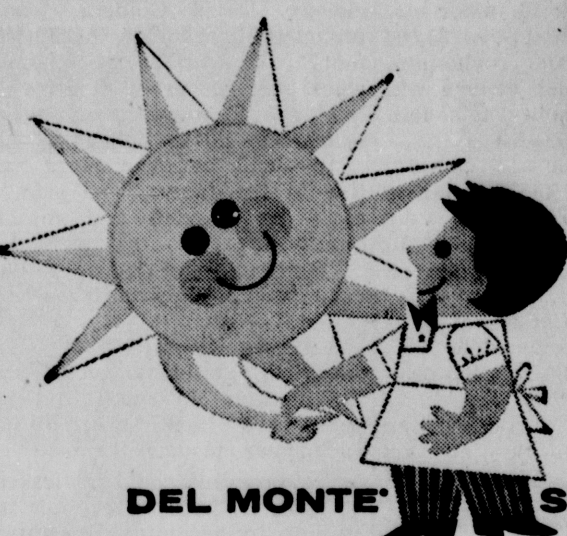

Mohogany Farms also won a prize for an outstanding sire in the angus class named Black Bardolier Gr 80. The outstanding sire in the hereford class went to President Lamplight, owned by Glen Wakefield of Kinde, and a short-horn named Westdrums Wayfarer, owned by Bilmar Farms of Grand Blanc, was named best sire in its class.

Approximately 11,800 persons lost their lives in fires in the U. S. during 1962.

Dior Presents New Silhouette In Slender Line

PARIS (AP) — The House of Christian Dior presented a new slender line silhouette today, with sheaths streamlined from neckline to hemline. Bosoms were flattened throughout.

The sheath dresses often were without belts. Necklines were built up for daytime, close to the throat. There were shirred halters for evening.

Designer Marc Bohan featured kimono sleeves, with the armholes down to the waist and draped. This sleeve style appeared in every type of dress, on jackets and on coats.

The simplicity of the line was relieved by rich fabrics with texture interest.

Loaded With Beads

In suits, jackets never close. They show a starched linen bib, blouse or T-shirt, always left plain. Detailing includes buttoned tabs, particularly in a group of clothes designed especially for U.S. and Mexican wear.

A third of the evening dresses were richly beaded or studded with rhinestones.

Bohan was given an ovation for his new tapered silhouette.

The collection opened with springtime, a black and white check tweed suit with a slender open jacket fitting snugly through the figure and leaving a wide space for the starched linen modesty bib.

The sleeves at the shoulders of all suits are slightly puffed, skirts are slim, or in younger suits kilted or deeply pleated.

Soon afterward came Bohan's second idea—the armhole cut down to the waist and a wide kimono sleeve folding back on itself at varied lengths. This first steps forth in a blue-jacketed suit with a red top, then appears in a gray wool two-piece for Paris. Next it came in an all-red two-piece mid-dy suit and finally in black for cocktails.

Halter Neck Favored

Next in importance came the great number of tapered dresses. They are actually snug-fitted chemise dresses with subtle hemline interest as a tiny bubble puff in the back, which is developed in some evening sheaths to a large puff.

Necks are close to the throat while for evening the shirred halter neck is favored, occasionally developing into a full swatched scarf or stoled line.

The tapered slender silhouette has a subtitle: Dior calls them "cylinder dresses," for they are tubular. They are shown in tailored wool, new silk and wool and

Omelet With Pea Sauce

By GAYNOR MADDOX

For a welcome change, serve a fluffy omelet with a delicate sauce of frozen peas for dinner. Cold sliced ham, chicken or any other baked meat goes well with it.

Omelet With Pea Sauce

(Yield: 4 servings)

1/3 cup butter or margarine
1/4 cup flour
2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon paprika
1/4 teaspoon onion salt
2 cups milk
1 1/2 teaspoons prepared mustard
2 drops Tabasco sauce
6 eggs, separated
1 package (10-ounce) frozen peas, partially defrosted and broken apart
1 cup shredded pasteurized process American cheese
Melt 1/4 cup butter or margarine; blend in flour, 1 teaspoon salt, paprika and onion salt. Add milk, mustard and Tabasco sauce; cook, stirring constantly, until smooth and thickened. Keep hot. Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored; fold in 3/4 cup sauce.

Beat egg whites and 1/2 teaspoon salt until they hold soft peaks. Fold in egg yolk mixture carefully but thoroughly. Pour into lightly buttered heated (not hot) heatproof 10-inch skillet or skillet with removable handle. Cook over low heat until lightly browned on sides and bottom, 12 to 15 minutes. Place in moderate oven (350 degrees) until set, about 15 minutes.

Combine peas, remaining butter or margarine and 1/2 teaspoon salt; heat thoroughly. Stir into remaining sauce; spoon over baked omelet. Sprinkle with cheese. Cut in wedges.

Handsome leather creations are among spring's fashion favorites. Suede suit (left) has easy flaring skirt in pale chamamois. Chanel-type jacket is belted and pocketed in brown kidskin. Black and white zebra print suit jacket (center) tops cabrette kid black skirt. The clean lines of the white leather coat (right) achieve a look of trim elegance emphasized by the simple collarless neckline. Leathermode designs shown here are by John Weitz.

Billy Goats Turn Into Chic Styles For Spring

By HELEN HENNESSY
Women's Editor

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK—(NEA)—The idea of becoming a slim kid-skin skirt topped by a zebra print jacket would be a sobering thought to any goat. But there's nary a lass who will deny that Billy makes a mighty chic suit.

Designers find more ways to use leather and suede each year as improvements in processing, dyes and soil retardants make using them for apparel more practical. Since these scientific and chemical advances have improved wear-ability and simplified upkeep, suede and leather are no longer in the prohibitive luxury price class.

The colors used this spring are beautiful—while, many pastels, rich browns and black. And there are new combinations of suede with fabric and suede with leather.

The suede shift appears again this spring, but along with the tan hues of last year there are flower tones of primrose pink and larkspur blue. An inky black cabrette kidskin shirt is combined with a gold suede sleeveless pullover to make a handsome outfit.

The suede spring coat is back in good styling and, if carefully too. One design, in a grayed navy blue, is double breasted and flared through the skirt, a silhouette favored by the lady who lives on Pennsylvania Avenue. And consider, too, the longevity of leather. These will have the ultimate pleasure.

Junior Achievers Hold Open House; Review Projects

This is National Junior Achievement Week and in Escanaba the event is being observed by the members of the three JA companies and their many friends.

An open house program at the Franklin School Monday evening brought parents, friends and other interested visitors to meet the young businessmen and women and inspect their products.

They learned also that Junior Achievement is America's business program of economic education for youth, making business and youth "partners in progress."

"Junior Achievement members learn by doing," said George Douglas, Escanaba JA president. "They get invaluable experience that prepares them for better careers and lives as better citizens."

Began In 1958

Under Junior Achievement guidance and sponsorship, teenagers form their own companies. They elect officers, sell stock, and actually go into business for themselves.

Every member gets experience in all branches of the business operation. Salaries and dividends are paid out of actual profit.

JA began its program in Escanaba in 1958 at the Webster Annex. Since that time the center has been changed to the Franklin School. Under the local program there are three companies of 15-20 students each. Students are from Holy Name and Escanaba Area Public High Schools. The Achievers meet each Monday evening from 7-9 p. m. October through May.

College Morals Reflect Tension

By G. K. HODENFIELD
Education Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sexual intercourse before marriage is increasing on college campuses, a group of educators reported today.

Writing in the scholarly Journal of the National Association of Women Deans and Counselors, the experts emphasized that it is not just a case of wild youth growing wilder.

Rather, they said, it is a reflection of:

Young people pursuing their educational goals against a background of international tension and social chaos.

Adult Control Lacking

A society which preaches strict standards of sexual morality, but does not practice what it preaches.

The disappearance of adult control at the late adolescent level. The arrival on campus of a late adolescent who is largely unprepared for and often incapable of managing the responsibility for biological and social maturity.

The Journal, a monthly publication, devoted its entire January issue to "Student Sex Standards and Behavior: The Educator's Responsibility."

Kate Hevner Mueller, professor of higher education at Indiana University and editor of the Journal, posed the problem this way: "Crises are inevitable, soul-searching routine and confusion rampant, for sex behavior and sex ethics have become national problems, unacknowledged, unsavory, and unsolved."

Youth Confused

Lester A. Kirkendall, professor of family life at Oregon State University, said "30 years' experience in working very closely with young people concerning all kinds of sexual problems and experiences" has led him to assume that:

"1. College youth are confused and uncertain concerning sex standards.

"2. Much premarital sexual intercourse occurs among college level youth. I believe that the proportion of college youth engaging in premarital intercourse is increasing.

"3. At the late adolescent level, adult control has practically disappeared. The actual decisions as to what sexual practices shall be followed are made by the youth in their own privacy and their own way. Controls imposed by authoritative adults are a thing of the past. We may not like this, but it is a fact of life."

Kirkendall said "parental supervision at the college level is gone, chaperones serve primarily an ornamental function, and college rules can, at the most, hamper and inconvenience rather than prevent."

Youth, 16, Likes Bunk In Igloo

By The Associated Press

Robert Chassell, 16, says he has been sleeping in an igloo each night ever since he and his father built the 5-foot-high snow hut outside their Stockbridge, Mass., home New Year's Day.

Robert has slept outdoors every night for the past five years except for a few days when he was ill. He says an igloo makes a very cozy bedroom. For instance, on a recent night when it was 8 degrees outside, it was comfortable—for Robert—23 inside the igloo.

Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner, a Democrat serving his first term, doesn't hold with what he says is a tradition for freshmen legislators to be seen but not heard. "There is a rule that when you are new you hold your peace and wait until you are called on," Kerner said at Springfield at the first of five dinners for 40 new Illinois legislators. "I don't buy that. You are supposed to represent the people who elected you."

James Samuel's bosses gave him the day off from work when they heard what happened to delay his arrival at the plant. Samuel, 29, of Two Harbors, Minn., was driving to his job when—

1. His car skidded off Highway 61.
2. It rolled end-over-end down a sheer 80-foot cliff.
3. It plopped into three feet of water in Lake Superior.

Hungarian composer Zoltan Kodaly, still spry at 80, was cheered when he entered the Vienna Concert House to hear a concert of his works and given repeated ovations afterward. Kodaly had to escape persistent autograph seekers at intermission.

His wife, Sara, 23, accompanied him to the concert, staged by the Austrian-Hungarian Society to honor Kodaly's recent birthday. ner said at Springfield at the first

Teachers Urged To Give Support To Constitution

George Hancin, public relations director of the Michigan Education Association, Lansing, finished a week's tour of the Upper Peninsula in Escanaba and Manistique today with a plea to school teachers to "be interested in something besides millage campaigns."

Hancin has urged teachers in a series of meetings across the Peninsula to become more involved in public affairs and more expressive in the mass media. "They should be interested," said Hancin "in the new constitution that we'll be voting on April 1. They'll be teaching their students about it, so they should be interested in it."

"No matter what the individual attitudes of its members may be, a statewide organization like the Michigan Education Association must look at statewide issues from the point of view of trying to determine what is best for the state as a whole."

"This is what the MEA did through a long-continuing study program in which were assisted and advised by the top political scientists of the state; men who were not concerned with a partisan point of view, but rather with what would be the best constitution obtainable."

"Following their recommendations and our study, the directors of MEA voted to support the ratification of the proposed constitution. The board did this knowing that individual member of the board as well as of the MEA did not consider certain provisions ideal, but from their point of view it was and is far superior in its total approach to what we have now."

"We point to three specific elements:

- "1. More nearly adequate representation in the legislature
- "2. The ways and means to modernize state and local governments with potentially great savings in taxes.
- "3. One of the best articles for the support of the public school system to be found in any state."

"It is for these reasons that we urge the voters to pass the new constitution April 1."

Hancin was accompanied on his U.P. tour by Robert Ferguson of Ford River, MEA field representative. Charles Folio, a Con-Con delegate addressed the MEA meeting at Iron Mountain Wednesday night in support of the new constitution.

Report Record Cold Wave Set

Longest consecutive period of days with below zero readings since records of such data began to be kept by the U.S. Weather Bureau in 1871 has been experienced by the Escanaba area.

Beginning Jan. 13, the temperature fell to zero or lower at some time on every day to today, Jan. 31, for a total of 18 consecutive days with zero or lower, according to S. E. Decker, meteorologist.

To date the record exceeds by two days the previous sub-zero period from Feb. 3-18 in 1875 and from Jan. 1-16 in 1912.

Average temperature for the past 18 days was 2.6 degrees below zero, which was higher than the previous low temperature periods — but January will still be the coldest month since February, 1936.

Today the forecast is for increasing cloudiness after a sunny day, with the low tonight near zero and the high Friday about 20.

The outlook for Saturday is for considerable cloudiness and slightly warmer with a chance of light snow or sleet.

Young Musicians Hear Stanley Hale

Stanley Hale, a junior in the University of Michigan School of Music, and a former member of the Escanaba Area Public High School string instrumental department, appeared in a recital for music students at Escanaba Junior High School on Wednesday.

His instructive and enjoyable demonstration was heard by students of Mrs. Clara Somers' 7th, 8th and 9th grade string classes, and he was accompanied by Mrs. Pearl St. Clair, Escanaba piano teacher.

Hale is studying viola with Prof. Robert Courte of the U. of M. School of Music staff.

Airman 3-c Robert C. Gumbert of Oakwood, Menominee County, is making a hobby collection of cast stone impressions of the teeth of the United States astronauts. Here he holds casts of the teeth of Comdr. Alan B. Shepard and Maj. Donald K. Slayton. (Daily Press Photo)

Astronaut's Dental Impressions Form Hobby Collection

Airman 3-c Robert C. Gumbert of Oakwood, near Daggett in Menominee County may be the only devotee of his particular hobby.

It so intrigued Urbo F. Lammi of Houghton, a representative of the Aid Association for Lutherans, that he urged the Press to ask Gumbert about it. Gumbert is currently on leave from his Air Force duties at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas for a vacation with his family, Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Gumbert, on their 360 acre Oakwood farm.

When Gumbert, a native of Daggett, was graduated from Carney High School in 1961 he enlisted in the Air Force and was assigned to Lackland for basic training. He entered the service in a buddy team arrangement with his friend Dick Robinson of Bagley, but they were together only 5 days in barracks and have been separated since.

This situation, Gumbert hastened to explain, is no fault of the Air Force or criticism of the buddy system; he elected to join the Drum and Bugle Corps at Lackland and that separated the enlistee buddies. Robinson is now at Bunker Hill AFB, Peru, Ind.

Gumbert later elected to take dental technician training at Lackland, which is the medical center for the Air Force, with a 1,000 bed hospital. He got on the job training in this specialty and is now in the casting room of the dental laboratory making plaster impressions of airmen's teeth for dentures and other dental needs. "It's easier to work on an impression than on a patient's mouth," explained Gumbert, "and they are very accurate."

His work has brought Gumbert his strange hobby. It is the collection of autographed cast stone impressions of astronauts' teeth.

So far he has collected the impressions of the teeth of Commander Alan B. Shepard, and of Major Donald K. Slayton. Both autographed their casts for Gumbert. "This is the first time I've ever autographed my teeth," quipped Shepard when he signed for Gumbert.

Slayton was a member of the first team of astronauts but was washed out of flight by a heart condition. Gumbert values his autograph as a pioneer of the space program and is looking forward to getting the autographed dental impressions of the other astronauts.

"I could have had all of them just as autographs," he said "but I'd rather get them on their dental impressions. My roommate has all their autographs. My hobby is a big joke at the clinic."

Gumbert said that his service in the Air Force has been a pleasant one. "They've given me what they promised and what I asked," he said. His career plans are still formative. He may, he said, take college work and then enter the Air Force nursing program, which provides a commission.

more than their own needs creating food shortages in cities.

3. There is no work available for about half the work force. Millions of dollars worth of machinery lies idle for lack of spare parts.

4. The finances of mineral-rich Katanga, which supplied the Congo so before independence with about half its foreign exchange earnings, are a mystery.

5. Thousands of tons of coffee, tea, palm oil and other produce are being smuggled out of the Congo, depriving the central government of taxes and foreign currency.

6. Much foreign aid has been used to plug leaks in the economy rather than to cure economic ills.

7. The central government lacks the power and trained personnel to impose unpopular economic solutions on the nation.

8. Disputes among the 21 provinces created last year resulted in serious breakdowns in local administration and sometimes in bloody fighting.

9. Premier Cyrille Adoula's offer of places in the central army to members of the Katanga Gendarmerie will place an added strain on the already over-extended budget. The move probably will swell the army to more than 40,000 men.

Iron County Is Stronghold Of Bald Eagles
CRYSTAL FALLS—Iron county remains one of the few remaining strongholds of the bald eagle, according to a report on a 1962 bald eagle nesting survey of Michigan.

In the survey, it was noted particularly that the shores of the Great Lakes, once the harbor for many eagle nests, or eyries, is being abandoned by the eagles.

With perhaps but one exception, all the productive nestings recorded in Michigan during 1961 and 1962 were located near inland lakes, ponds and rivers. A general lack of nesting success is being noted in eyries near the shores of the Great Lakes.

This appears to hold true even for undisturbed places and is further evidenced by the lack of production on islands in Potogamizing Bay and along the channels connecting Lakes Superior and Huron, as well as by the apparently complete disappearance of occupied eagle nests on the islands in northern Lake Michigan.

Debris Of Lost Plane Sighted In Choppy Atlantic
NEW YORK (AP)—The search plane, flying through freezing rain and fog about 500 feet above the choppy Atlantic, spotted three flight jackets and a broken life raft amid debris.

Said the copilot: "When we got closer we realized it was hopeless."

The words told of the end of a new type Navy plane, a submarine hunter, which crashed into the sea Wednesday about 230 miles southeast of New York.

"Apparently none of the 14 persons aboard survived," said an announcement from Patuxent River, Md., home base of the four-engine plane which had been taking part in a sea exercise.

The 400 m.p.h. craft, called the P3A Orion, was of a type accepted for Navy service last August.

The pilot of a Coast Guard plane reported sighting 12 bodies in the water. The submarine Corp, which had been engaged in the training exercise with the missing plane, picked up one body.

Later a Coast Guard vessel reported coming upon some damaged life rafts, deflated life preservers, an abandoned oxygen flask and some exposure suits—all apparently unused. Sighting of the rafts had led to an initial report of survivors aboard the P3A, last heard from in a routine radio contact at 2:48 a.m.

EHS Graduation Date Rescheduled
The Escanaba Area Public High School graduation will be advanced from Thursday, June 6, to Tuesday, June 4, and the ceremonies will be held in the gymnasium of the new high school, it was decided by the board of education in meeting Tuesday night.

The rescheduling will accompany a considerable change in the timing of events for commencement, which in the past involved the senior class in almost a week of activities, said Supt. Walter Bright.

In past years graduation week started with baccalaureate Sunday, continued through a series of activities climaxed by commencement on Thursday night.

In the new schedule calls for baccalaureate on Sunday, followed by class day and Senior banquet on Monday, and concluding on Tuesday with honor day and commencement. Shortening the period of activities will reduce the load on the members of the graduating class who are involved in many events with the climax of their high school careers.

Baccalaureate and commencement will also be staged in the gymnasium of the new high school, rather than in Wm. Oliver Memorial Auditorium in the Junior High Building.

The board of education in other business Tuesday night: Asked for a report on the estimated cost of assessments for streets and other city utilities in the area west of the new high school, where the school district proposes to deed street rights-of-way to the city.

Curriculum Study
Approved participation in the 1963 Delta County Teachers Institute but voted not to participate in the institute next year. A similar action has been taken by the Delta County School Board, the Escanaba Area board was advised.

Received a Junior High School curriculum study report which had been in progress since the fall of 1961. The board commended the committee for its thorough study and promised board action in putting desirable recommendations into practice.

The report was submitted by Ed Havitz, chairman, Bill Suriano, Ed Edick, Tom Hugheson, Amy Johnson, Ethelyn Klug, Peggy Kranstover, Dick Olivanti, Wally Pulz, Erv Slade, Dorothy Tonn and Jack Kivela.

Empire Mine To Force Relocation Of Highway M-35

Improvement of State Highway M-35 between Gladstone and Negaunee isn't scheduled in the State Highway Department's planning until about 1967.

William Karas, superintendent-engineer of the Delta County Road Commission, which maintains part of the route for the state, says it won't last that long at its present rate of deterioration.

The route has acquired new traffic load and importance because it is one of the main highways serving big K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base near Gwin.

At request of State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie, R. A. Trebilcock, director of the Highway Department's Programming Division, Office of Planning has reviewed current state planning for M-35 from Menominee to Negaunee.

"There are two projects on M-35 in the second 5 year (1962-67) program, both in Marquette County. The first project calls for reconstruction and relocation of M-35 from the Delta-Marquette county line to County Road 533 in Marquette County."

"The second project calls for reconstruction and/or relocation of M-35 from County Road 533 west approximately four miles. County Road 533 is the north-south county road immediately west of the K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base."

"Since the second 5 year program was issued, a situation has arisen in the Palmer-Negaunee area which will necessitate the Highway Department relocating existing M-35 in this area from Palmer north. The renewed activity of the mining industry in this area (development of the new Empire Mine near Palmer by Cleveland Cliffs Iron Co.) will involve the de-watering of mines in the immediate area of M-35 with the attendant danger of subsidence."

"To eliminate the possibility of subsidence and the accompanying danger to traffic, it will be necessary to relocate M-35 away from the iron formation. To compensate for the addition of this project to the second 5 year program, it is possible that the project from County Road 533 west may have to be deferred."

"It is also possible that the Highway Department will assume jurisdiction from that point north. It is also possible that we may retain existing M-35 from County Road 533 north for the present and eventually relocate M-35 from the Gwin area north. At this time no decision has been made."

"The second 5 year program originally provided for the improvement of M-35 from Gladstone to Perkins. This project was originally programmed for an expenditure of $350,000. When the design was completed to Bureau of Public Roads standards, however, the project cost rose to approximately $1,000,000."

"Rather than build only a short portion of the route, we deferred the project until such time as additional funds become available. We anticipate that this portion of the route will be reconstructed near the end of the second 5 year program."

Salary Boosts In State Budget

LANSING (AP) — Salary increases for some 150 persons who head state commissions and agencies of various sizes are included in Gov. George Romney's proposed 1963-64 budget—a total cost item of about $300,000.

The governor said he believes current inequities in salary for unclassified department and agency heads mean that some officers receive less in salary than the people they are supervising.

"This unfair and indefensible condition exists in many of our departments," the governor said. "It prevents securing needed talent, including refusal of assistants to accept greater executive responsibility."

The governor said he felt additional money spent to get top-flight personnel in key posts "will be returned many times in higher efficiency."

Romney also said he believes the elected members of the Administrative Board should receive higher pay—but because their salaries cannot be increased during term of office, he recommended an increase only for the superintendent of public instruction, whose term expires in April.

That increase would be from the current $17,500 to $22,500.

Recommendations for pay hikes for other administrative board members will be included in next year's proposed budget, the governor said.

Pay hikes for agency heads are scaled on the basis of the size of the agency.

Paul Adams Will Try To Regain High Court Seat

LANSING (AP) — Former State Supreme Court Justice Paul Adams, 54, who was defeated for reelection last November, announced today he will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination to regain a seat on the High Court.

Adams was mayor of Sault Ste. Marie in 1938-42, served as a member of the University of Michigan Board of Regents in 1956-57 and was appointed attorney general in 1958.

In 1962, Adams was appointed to the Supreme Court and served until his election defeat.

The Bark River-Harris Student Loan Assn. made its first loan at the Monday evening meeting at the home of the association's president, Robert Whatley, when he presented the association's check to Sandra Konkell, 1962 graduate of Bark River-Harris High School.

Miss Konkell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Konkell, Bark River, Rte. 1, will enter Northern Michigan College, Monday, Feb. 4, for a year's course in practical nursing.

The Student Loan Assn. was organized under the sponsorship of the Bark River-Harris Parent-Teacher Assn. in March of 1962, but is a self-functioning body. Organizations and approximately 760 alumni were approached for donations to the cause. The only fund-raising project so far was the Teachers-Alumni Basketball Game held in the gym of the elementary school Dec. 27.

The association's committee is composed of Robert Whatley, president; Mary Niquette, treasurer; Doreen Bartozek, assistant treasurer; Marie Johnson, secretary; Elaine Gauthier, LaVona Motto and Phyllis Hooker.

European Trade Rivalry May Hit Farmers In U.S.

NEW YORK (AP)—Rival trading blocs in Europe may increase competition for American farmers and manufacturers in other parts of the world as well as across the Atlantic.

The rivalry could lead to stepped up drives to send more foreign goods into the United States. And it can change the scope and ground rules for American bargaining on tariffs and other barriers to foreign trade, on which high hopes had been built after Congress gave the President unprecedented powers to wheel and deal with other governments.

While Europe and the rest of the world simmer down after French President Charles de Gaulle's veto of British entry into the Common Market, American producers and exporters will reassess their position in the fast changing world economy.

The Rev. Hammar, pastor of Central Methodist Church, gave an inspirational talk.

State Charter Yes Vote Urged

The campaign for approval of Michigan's proposed new constitution at the polls on April 1 is to be carried into every section of the state through the efforts of the newly organized Co-ordinating Committee for the New Constitution.

The organization represents an alliance of statewide groups whose local units are expected to be active on behalf of the new document.

Executive director of the CCNC is Edward A. McLogan of Flint, a former Con Con delegate, who has recently set up offices for the new organization in the Civic Center at Lansing.

McLogan and his staff will occupy quarters which last year were the offices of Stephen S. Nisbet of Fremont, president of the Constitutional Convention.

"We are most anxious for an effort of some sort in every community," says McLogan. "We will seek to co-ordinate the individual campaigns or our member organizations without attempting to direct what any organization does."

The co-ordinating committee will be nonpartisan in its approach in the campaign, McLogan said. "We recognize that a constitution is for all the people and all the state and we think the proposed document is essentially non-partisan."

CCNC leaders have a finance committee headed by Thomas R. Reid of Dearborn, State Chamber of Commerce vice president. They seek to raise a minimum of $75,000 to finance their campaign work.

Member organizations in the CCNC include the Michigan Council of Churches, Michigan League of Women Voters, Michigan Farm Bureau, Michigan Junior Chamber of Commerce, Michigan State Chamber of Commerce, Michigan Education Association, United Church Women of Michigan, Detroit Bar Association, Michigan Retailers Association, Michigan division of the American Association of University Women, Michigan Municipal League, and Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers.

riations for state - controlled colleges and universities.

In a joint statement, four college presidents declared: "The governor's budget message fell far short of the dollars needed to carry on a quality program of higher education at the four institutions operating under the State Board of Education."

"Faced with increasing enrollments, the need for equipment, supplies and physical facilities—plus the concern to attract and retain competent staff—we feel the recommended appropriations are entirely inadequate."

The statement was issued by Eastern Michigan University President Eugene Elliott, Western Michigan University President James Miller, Central Michigan University President Judson Foust, and Northern Michigan College President Edgar Harden.

The president of the State Board of Education, Chris Magnusson, said his group concurred completely with the statement made by the college presidents.

STATE BRIEFS
MUSKEGON (AP)—Breneman-Harishorn Inc., has acquired the Woven Wood Shade Division of Hough Manufacturing Corp. of Janesville, Wis., and is moving it to Muskegon.

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—A Kent County Supervisors' Committee Tuesday recommended an April 1 vote on petitions asking annexation of suburban East Grand Rapids and Cascadia Point to Grand Rapids. The matter must be approved by the full board.

LANSING (AP)—State police troopers will not be allowed to work more than a 48-hour week after next July without overtime pay or compensating time off, the Civil Service Commission has ruled. The commission voted to discontinue a "banked time" arrangement established in 1958 to help compensate troopers who worked more than a 48-hour week. Under the plan, hours worked in excess of 48 are "banked" and trooper exhausting sick or annual leave can draw on the time and continued to be paid although not working.

DETROIT (AP)—Ling-Temco-Vought of Dallas said Tuesday its new division to be located at the Michigan Ordnance Missile plant near Warren, Mich., will be called the LTV Michigan Division. The company has a $100 million contract for development and initial production of the Lance Missile, and a $2.5 million contract for development of a 1 1/4 quarter ton six wheeled military vehicle.

ST. CLAIR (AP)—Diamond Crystal Salt Co. has declared a regular quarterly cash dividend of 10 cents a share and an extra stock dividend of two per cent. Both are payable Feb. 25 to stockholders of record Feb. 8.

DETROIT (AP)—Anne M. Sweeney has been elected as the first woman president of the Michigan Funeral Directors Association. She is a graduate of Wayne State University's department of mortuary science and a licensed mortician.

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney has proclaimed February as Heart Education Month and the week of Feb. 3-9 as Clergy Week in Michigan. Romney called on Michigan citizens to play tribute to their clergy during the week and to take advantage of education programs sponsored by the Michigan Heart Association, dealing with heart diseases, during the month.

JACKSON (AP)—A fire in a railroad car loaded with baby food caused an estimated $10,000 damages here Tuesday. Firemen and rail officials said the fire was caused by a leak from an alcohol heater suspended in the car to protect the baby formula. The food was packaged at the Wyeth Laboratories plant in Mason.

FRANKFORT (AP)—H.W. Jencks, Inc. has transferred its operations from Beulah to a new building at Frankfort. The company, a subsidiary of Detroit Coil Co., of Detroit, manufactures industrial solenoid coils for use in the automation field of electrical fixtures and appliances. The Frankfort plant will employ from 25 to 30 persons, many of them women.

LANSING (AP)—The U.S. Bureau of Public Roads has approved plans for the location of a 38.5 mile section of the I-75 Freeway in Bay and Arenac counties, reports the State Highway Department. The approval means final plans can be made for letting contracts for the freeway this year and next, the department said.

LANSING (AP)—Win Schuler of Marshall, operator of restaurants at Marshall, Jackson, St. Joseph and Grand Haven, has been named chairman of the hospitality day activities for the May 19-25 Michigan Week. Michigan communities will be asked to show their friendliness and hospitality to visitors on May 21 as part of the observance.

LANSING (AP)—The Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. has asked State Public Service Commission approval of the sale of $32 million in bonds. Purpose of the sale, the utility said, was to retire bonds sold earlier at a 6 1/4 interest rate and sell the new bonds at a cheaper interest rate as a money-saving device.

LANSING (AP)—More than 8,000 Michigan boat-owners already have sent in $3 fees to register their boats with the same numbers, reports the Secretary of State's office. More than 400,000 boat-owners must re-register, the office estimated. The old registrations expired Dec. 31 and the new registrations are good through 1965.

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Common Council set a hearing for Feb. 7 on a proposal by Detroit Police Commissioner George Edwards to reduce the mounted police division from 46 officers to 23. Some council members objected to the reduction in the moun- tains, long a fixture in Detroit parades and in the downtown parking area.

Ann Landers

A Damp Situation

Dear Ann Landers: I am a first-grade teacher who disagrees with your advice to the mother whose child wet his pants in school. You were highly critical of the teacher because she shamed the youngster before the class.

Your closing statement was "the principal should speak to the teacher. She needs educating—badly."

It is YOU who needs educating badly. A person who has never been a teacher cannot possibly be aware of the problems which beset us daily.

Small children who are too closely tied to their mothers apron strings sometimes use the wet pants as an excuse to go home. Often they want extra attention and will do anything to get it.

A good teacher knows each of her students and she also knows how to deal best with his particular weaknesses. In my opinion this teacher used good judgment.

—EXPERIENCED

Dear Experienced: Thank you for your letter. Here is another point of view:

Dear Ann Landers: My heart went out to the little boy who wet his pants in school. Although 40 years have passed since I had a similar experience, I remember it vividly.

It was the first grade, and I was six years old. We were watching a movie of the Johnstown flood—and suddenly I realized I was involved in a flood of my own. We were told to file out and return to the classroom. I was ashamed to leave my seat. The teacher saw me, and seemed instinctively to know. She told the others to go on ahead. She stayed behind with me.

I was swiftly ushered to the teacher's rest room and was given some dry underwear kept there for "the purpose." She asked me to return the underwear after my mother had laundered it, so it could help some other little boy who "got too excited." Her understanding heart taught me the true meaning of compassion. I shall love that teacher to my dying day.—L. R.

Dear Ann Landers: I suppose you've had this question many times, but it's new to me. I have raised four girls. My 16-year-old daughter has been going with a boy, 19. He's over here every night after work and she either goes out with him or they sit at home.

The boy buys her clothing and other items every single week. He has a good-paying job but I don't approve of this practice. He comes from a poor family and his parents could use some of the money he is lavishing on her.

I've mentioned this to my daughter but it does no good. Should I talk to the boy's parents?—ST. LOUIS WOMAN

Dear Woman: The boy's parents probably have less control over their son than you have over your daughter—which is precious little. Speaking to them would be bootless.

Tell your daughter she may not accept any future gifts other than it vividly.

Many a marriage would be a better union if the in-laws didn't consider themselves shop stewards.

—EXPERIENCED

for a special occasion. Point out to the boy the practicality of saving his money for the future. Make it clear that any other course of action will not be tolerated.

***
Confidential to Rosa: Tell your father this isn't Italy. A 16-year-old girl should not look like a baboon from the knees down. Hair-removal is part of good grooming.

***
Confidential to The Cake-eater: Any similarity between your free-loading romance and a real gentleman is purely coincidental. What more do you need—a building to fall on your head?

To learn the knack of feeling comfortable with the opposite sex, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Be Date Bait," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Burning Wreckage Of Air Force Jet Sighted On Ridge

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP)—Burning wreckage of what was believed to be an Air Force B52 jet bomber was sighted this morning on a ridge of the rugged Sangre de Cristo Mountains about 45 miles northeast of Santa Fe in northern New Mexico.

Air Force and state police units were on their way to the site. An Air Force spokesman said a B52 crew would vary from six to nine men. Kirtland Air Force Base at Albuquerque said none of its planes has been reported missing.

Father Damien, who gave his life to the care of lepers in a colony at Molokai, was known as the "Leper Priest."

Explorer Still Circles Earth On 5th Birthday

By HOWARD BENEDICT
CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Explorer 1, the one-time chat-box which discovered the Van Allen radiation belt, whirled silently around the earth today on its fifth birthday.

The 30.8-pound cylinder long ago lost its radio voice, but it reigns as the oldest man-made inhabitant in space. The two Soviet Sputniks which preceded it into orbit no longer are aloft.

Advancements have been spectacular since Explorer 1 placed the United States firmly in the space race with the Soviet Union on Jan. 31, 1958.

The United States has launched an almost unbelievable total of more than 110 successful satellites and deep space probes. Soviet scientists have sent up 31.

The Soviet Union's future plans are cloaked in secrecy. But the step-by-step U.S. program has been laid out clearly for the next decade.

Moon Goal Set

America's major goal is to land astronauts on the moon before the Russians and to do it before 1970. A so-called ideal launching date of Jan. 14, 1967, at 3:34 p.m. Cape Canaveral time, has been considered as a potential goal for the Apollo lunar flight. If this date is met—and most planners doubt it will—Americans would be on the moon within 10 years after Explorer 1 shot into the sky.

The ideal time is based on relative positions of the earth and moon; illumination conditions in the chosen landing area near the Sabine Crater; predicted solar radiation activity, and expected readiness of a booster rocket, a capsule and numerous other ingredients.

Before the three-man Apollo team is moon-bound, a number of critical milestones must be passed, a number of problems solved.

To gain further experience in prolonged space flight, astronaut Leroy Gordon Cooper Jr. is scheduled to make what may be the final Project Mercury ride next April 2, an intended 34-hour mission.

Rendezvous In Space

This will be the longest U.S. manned space trip to date, but far short of the record 94-hour, 35-minute flight of Soviet cosmonaut Andrian Nikolayev.

In 1964, the two-man Gemini craft is to start a series of flights intended to keep astronauts in space for periods up to two weeks and to check techniques for rendezvousing with other orbiting craft. Perfection of rendezvous is essential for Apollo lunar flight.

Meanwhile, unmanned packets of instruments will continue to explore space, the moon and the planets. Ranger and Surveyor vehicles are to orbit and land on the moon to investigate thoroughly the selected Apollo landing area.

Development is proceeding on the mighty Saturn C5 rocket, whose 7.5 million pounds of thrust is to carry the Apollo moonship.

The man entrusted with molding Saturn and overtaking the Soviet Union's rocket power advantage is the same who headed the team which launched Explorer 1—former German rocket expert Werner von Braun.

Cost Staggering

The cost of landing men on the moon will be staggering. Original estimates ran as high as $40 billion. But James E. Webb, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, reported earlier this month that the price tag will be under $20 billion. In the next few years an estimated 300,000 persons in hundreds of plants across the nation will be involved in preparing for the lunar flight.

Some U.S. experts doubt that the Soviet Union can devote as much money, resources and manpower to such a program without seriously sacrificing needed production in other areas. But others point out that the Soviets have pulled surprises before in space and that the race to the moon should be an interesting one.

State Briefs

BRIDGMAN (AP)—Clifford Joiner, 53, of Bridgman, father of 13 children, died Tuesday in an industrial accident at Products Engineering & Manufacturing Corp. He was crushed by a 600-ton aluminum die casting machine at the plant.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—James R. Hoffa has won a week's postponement of his appearance before a federal grand jury. U. S. Atty. Francis C. Wheeler said an attorney for the Teamsters Union president asked for the delay to permit Hoffa to complete business in Philadelphia. He was to have appeared before the jury Wednesday. Authorities have not announced the purpose of the proceedings.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Under President Kennedy's proposed education program, Michigan would get $16.2 million of the $400 million which the Federal government would spend in the next fiscal year on aid to public elementary and secondary schools. Only four states—California, New York, Pennsylvania and Texas—would be allotted more.

BERKLEY (AP)—Mayor George Kuhn of Berkley will lead his Vigilance Tax Committee forces on Lansing today to voice opposition to Detroit's city income tax. Kuhn said his group would present to the legislative committee petitions with more than 180,000 names supporting a proposed bill that would prohibit any city income tax unless the city's voters approved it. It also would ban a city income tax on non-residents.

DETROIT (AP)—General Telephone Co., which serves 55 of Michigan's 83 counties, has announced a $12.5 million expansion program for 1963. The figure maintains a million-dollar-a-month average for construction expenditures that started in January, 1955.

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The University of Michigan Medical School has received $2,500 from Borden Co. Foundation Inc., with which to recognize outstanding student research efforts.

EAST LANSING (AP)—Don Stevens of Okemos has announced he will seek re-election as a Democrat to the post of trustee of Michigan State University. Stevens, 48, was elected to the MSU Board of Trustees in 1957.

Economic View Of '63 Improved

EAST LANSING—That erratic variable, the consumer, is the cause of revised economic forecasts for 1963, says Dr. Eli P. Cox, director of Michigan State University's Bureau of Business and Economic Research.

"As late as two or three months ago," Dr. Cox says, "economists were predicting a small downturn during the first half of 1963, followed by a very mild improvement during the remainder of the year."

"Now the consensus seems to be that there will be no drop in economic activity during the first half of the year, and that the outlook for 1963 is fairly bright."

Dr. Cox explains the apparent view of the consumer.

The consumer, he says, either does not read economic forecasts or does not believe what he reads. If he did both, and acted rationally on that basis, the forecasts would come true.

"When the forecasts are for significant economic improvement he would spend, and when they are for economic decline he would save against the proverbial rainy day."

"The consumer is apparently influenced more by what he sees going on around him than by economic evaluations carried in the press. If his own employment and income seem to be secure and if he sees less unemployment among friends and relatives, he probably feels safe in going ahead and buying some of the things he has been wanting, regardless of what those of us who write about economic matters say."

Dr. Cox acknowledges that the consumer had much more reason for optimism in 1962 than in 1961.

Unemployment, he says, hit highs of 6.1 per cent for the nation and 14.2 per cent for Michigan early in 1961. By October the rates had fallen to 4.6 per cent for the nation and 4.4 per cent for Michigan.

Unemployment seems sure to remain a serious problem, says Dr. Cox. A considerable part of Michigan's improved unemployment figures has been made possible by a decline in the labor force.

"It seems," he says, "unlikely that Michigan's labor force will continue to decrease while its population rises. An unemployment figure of something like 6 per cent for this year seems likely."

"Despite the problem of providing full employment, the next few years look like relatively good ones for the state. Michigan today seems to be well on its way to making adequate adjustment to the changing pattern of national demand and toward achieving an industrial balance which will give it greater economic stability than it has known since the '30s."

Post Office Has Change In Hours Of Mail Dispatch

Postmaster M. E. Anderson today announced several immediate changes in departmental procedures due to the discontinuance of mail trains and the establishment of Star Routes using motor vehicle to serve the Gladstone Post Office.

Anderson said that the lobby of the Post Office will close each week-day at 6:30 p. m. (EST) and at 5:45 p. m. on Sundays and holidays.

The final mail collection will be made at the mailboxes at the Post Office and at 9th St. and Delta Ave. at 6:30 p. m. on weekdays and at 5:45 p. m. on Sundays and holidays.

Anderson said that all air mail and airtail mail (first class mail) for Illinois, Minnesota and Lower Michigan must be in the Post Office no later than 5:15 p. m. to make air connections.

Rock Resident Waives Exam

Robert Schermerhorn, 31, of Rte. 1, Rock, waived examination and was bound over to Circuit Court, when arraigned before Justice A. J. Mortier Wednesday on a charge of breaking and entering.

Bond was set at $1,000, however, Schermerhorn is being held in the Delta County jail as a parole violator. He was convicted twice previously on burglary charges.

The Rock man was arrested by State Police for the burglary of Larson Bros. Sav-U Market at Rock Sunday evening. About $298 in merchandise was taken in the burglary. It was found later in a cloth sack beneath a spruce tree in a parking lot at Rock.

Fire Destroys Brampton Home Of Ray Sheffer

Fire, believed started from pipes being thawed with a blow torch, destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Sheffer of Brampton about 3 p. m. Monday.

At the time the fire occurred Mrs. Sheffer was at work at the Oja Convalescent Home. Her husband, who had been ill at home, was rescued from the burning house, by neighbors.

The furnishings on the ground floor of the home were saved, but all household goods on the second floor were destroyed.

Firemen from Perkins and Brampton, and many neighbors, fought the blaze and helped save the household effects.

Jolly Jills Meet

The Jolly Jills Home Extension Club met at the home of Mrs. John Mackie at Kipling Monday evening. After hearing the cancer dressing program discussed by Mrs. Irvin MacKenzie each member agreed to take dressings home to complete.

In other business the group voted to send a donation to the March of Dimes and scheduled the next meeting for Feb. 25 at the home of Mrs. James Bratonia. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Briefly Told

State Police ticketed Grant La-Palm of Rte. 1, Gladstone for defective equipment.

Bing Crosby Has His 11th Operation

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Singer Bing Crosby was reported in excellent condition after his fourth kidney stone operation in 11 years.

Crosby, 58, underwent surgery Tuesday at St. Johns Hospital. He had three previous operations on his left kidney. This was the first on his right.

He is expected to leave the hospital in about one week.

Decline Foreseen In Auto Sales

LANSING (AP) — Automobile sales probably will go down in the 1963-64 fiscal year, says Gov. George Romney, former president of American Motors.

Romney said in his budget message Wednesday he expects car sales will decline about six per cent.

"Yet the general tenor of the economy is healthy," Romney said. "If no marked upturn can be expected, neither is any marked downturn anticipated."

Most observers, he said, believe the economy will be stimulated by federal government policies, particularly a cut in the income tax. The current economic activity, Romney said, has been highlighted by near-record automobile production, a surge that began in the last quarter of 1962.

Romney said this apparently was influenced by the shortage of 1962 cars at the end of the model run and the desire of fleet and rental buyers to take advantage of new depreciation allowances and investment tax credits. A lot of bargain-hunters, he said, were converted to 1963 model purchases.

Despite the expected decline in auto sales, it is expected that revenues in Michigan will incline modestly upward, Romney said.

In This Corner

with Ray Crandall

The 1963 edition of the Upper Peninsula Golden Gloves tournament will come to a close Saturday night at the Holy Name gym with 10 defending or former champions still in the field. Included in the list are Phil D'Ambrosia, Lawrence Elie and Joe Sarasin of Escanaba, Pete Bosanic, Larry Bosanic and Don Rochefort of Manistique, Andy Rodgers of Treenary, Dick Schomer and Bob Zukas of Menominee and Curt Hytinen of Milwaukee.

The well conditioned Menominee Boxing Club team is far out in front in the battle for the Lions Club's handsome team trophy. The trophy was inaugurated last year and Menominee was the first winner. Bobby Hansen's scrappers captured seven victories on opening night and it's doubtful if any other team can give them a run for the trophy in the finals.

Latest Upper Peninsula honor count was a 711 series bowled by Bill Musolf at Marquette on games of 245, 222 and 244. Split pickers: Babe Goulet 5-7 and 3-4-7, Marie Pearson 5-10, Esther Lorey 6-7-10, Lu Rockman 5-7 and 4-5, Lenore Palmgren 5-7, Marvin Palmgren 6-7-10.

Alpha gained revenge for one of its two setbacks this season by whipping Amasa 74-53 in spite of a 33 point bucket barrage by Amasa's Delbert Johnson. Ron Lepisto led Alpha to its 10th victory with 25 points.

Hibbing set an all time scoring record in defeating Gogebic 120-84 in a Northern Junior College Conference game. Hibbing is undefeated in 10 conference starts while Gogebic has an 8-3 mark. Pete Kopecko had 30 points for the losers.

Tom Manninen scored a field goal with 10 seconds left in the game to give Bessemer's Speed Boys a 64-63 verdict over Iron River. Bessemer's starters played the entire game without a substitute and three of them scored in double figures, headed by Manninen with 22 points.

Norway Defends Skating Honors In Feb. 10 Meet

Preparations for the second annual Upper Peninsula-Northern Wisconsin Speed Skating Meet are underway at Royce Park and the ice is being built up to assure ideal skating conditions for the races. The event will be held at the 19th street rink Sunday, Feb. 10, at 1:30.

Veteran speed skating coach August Menghini of Norway will be on hand again this year and he is expected to bring about thirty young skaters to defend the team title won by Norway last year. Kathy Faull, who shared honors in the Pony Girls division with Eleanor Perron of Escanaba, has already entered. Linda Vandenberg will be back to defend her title in the Juvenile Girls class. Joe Trepanier and Mike Mulligan, who finished in a tie in the Midget Boys class, will be fighting it out again. Peter Yantorni is expected back to defend his title in the Juvenile Boys division.

Escanaba skaters who were high point winners in their respective divisions are as follows: Eleanor Perron in the Midget Girls class; Esther Malloy in the Midget Girls division; Kathy Pryal in the Junior Girls class; Gary Provo in the Pony Boys class; Mike Sigorski in the Junior Boys group; Tom Perryman in the Intermediate Boys class; and Dennis Clark in Senior Men's.

The meet is sponsored by the Department of Recreation and Radio Station WDBC. Paul Vardigan and Art Petersen are co-chairmen and Louis Weiland will serve as Clerk of the Meet.

Local skaters are reminded to pick up their entry blanks at Club 214. Out of town participants may write to the Recreation Department in Escanaba. The deadline for entering has been set for Tuesday, Feb. 5.

Drysdale Gets Salary Boost

Evidently, the front office of the Los Angeles Dodgers is convinced that youth must be served—and apparently the brass feels that to serve the baseball club's youth than by a healthy salary boost.

Fire-balling Don Drysdale and hard-hitting Tommy Davis were the recipients of $10,000 raises today for their scintillating 1962 performances.

Big Don, 26, becomes the highest paid pitcher in Dodger history after signing his 1963 contract calling for about $46,000. Davis, 23, agreed to terms calling for about $25,000.

Drysdale won the Cy Young Award as baseball's outstanding pitcher. He won the most games in the majors, 25, and his 232 strikeouts also were tops. Davis, the National League's leading batsman with a .346 average, led the majors in runs batted in with 153 and hits with 230.

Two other Los Angeles youngsters also signed Wednesday, Ron Fairly and Willie Davis.

Fairly, 24, is reported to have signed for about $20,000. Center fielder Willie Davis, 22, is to receive an unspecified hike over his 1962 contract that called for $11,000. He was selected National League Sophomore of the Year.

Third baseman Ken Boyer of the St. Louis Cardinals admitted he took a slight cut in pay, signing for an estimated $45,000 Wednesday, a decrease of $5,000 over last year's contract. Boyer hit .291 in 1962, the first time in five seasons his average dipped below .300.

Northern Hosts Ski Tournament

MARQUETTE—Northern Michigan College, the state's 1962 collegiate ski champion, will defend its title here Feb. 2 and 3 when it hosts 12 teams at Cliffs Ridge in the Michigan Intercollegiate Ski Association Championships.

Competition will get underway at 10 a. m. Saturday and Sunday. Last season, the Wildcats made a near-sweep of the honors, taking five of the six trophies awarded at the Boyne Mountain meet while capturing the men's and women's titles.

Expected to enter teams in the combined, downhill and slalom events are the University of Michigan, Michigan State, Calvin College, Ferris Institute, Michigan Tech, Northwestern Michigan College, Detroit Tech, Kalamazoo College, Lawrence Tech, and Flint, Grand Rapids and Gogebic Junior Colleges.

Mueller Notches Overtime Victory

Mueller's Pizza captured a 59-56 double overtime victory over Taylor Insurance in City League basketball action Wednesday night.

Bob Grenier scored 16 points and J. C. Miller 15 for the winners, Ron Groleau 16 for the losers.

The Independents, paced by Mike Heminger and Dick Bryson with 16 and 12 topped Tom's Signs 63-49. Ron Thompson scored 18, Wayne Erickson 16 for Tom's.

Herro's Electric downed Jaycees No. 2 78-43 as Spike O'Connell stuffed in 30 points and Jerry Harris 20. Ray Hockstead hit 23 for the Jaycees.

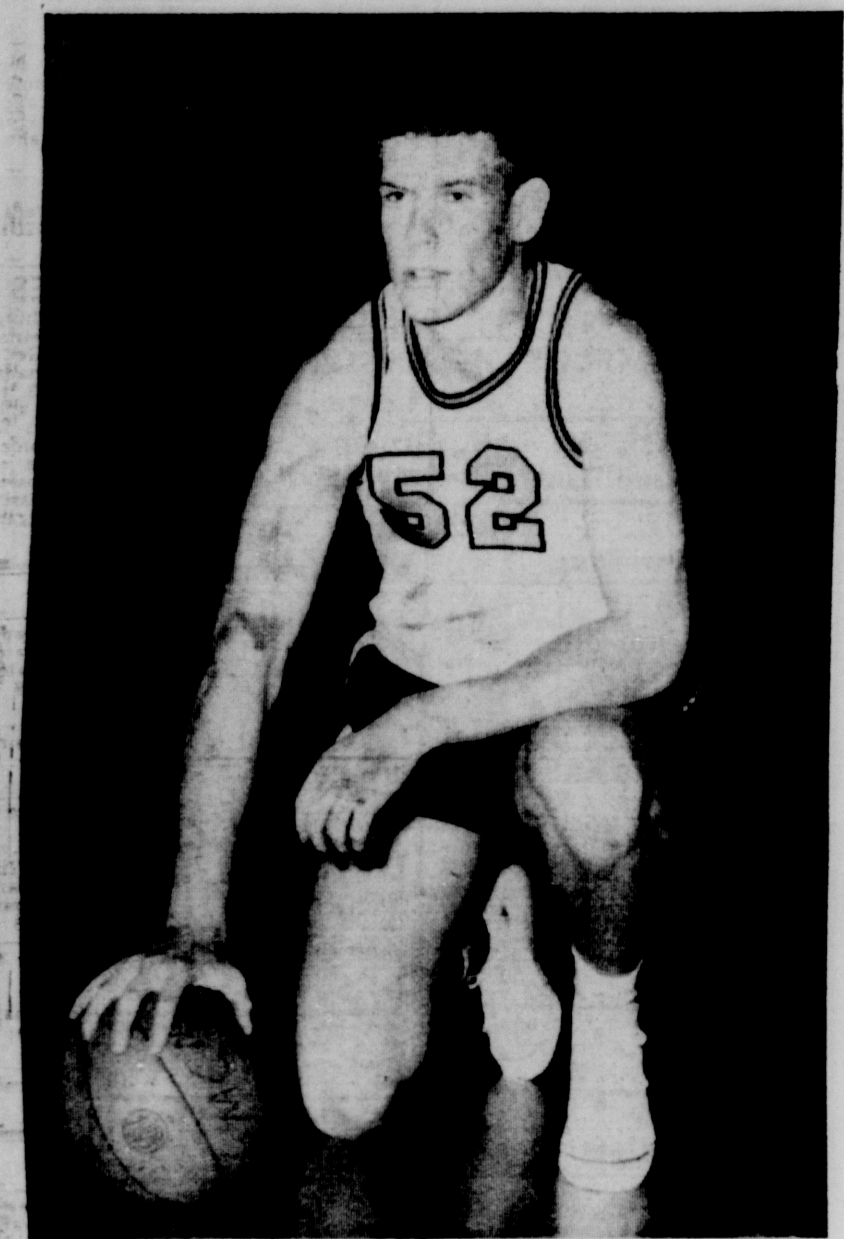

Thursday schedule: 8—Mueller's vs. Mead 9—L&R vs. Taylor

Sports In Brief

OLIVET (AP)—Bob Woods and Larry Miller scored 19 and 18 points respectively to lead Olivet Northern to an 86-49 basketball victory over winless Olivet Wednesday night.

ALBION (AP)—Albion rallied late in the second half and went on to score a 79-72 basketball victory over Eastern Michigan Wednesday night. Albion posted its fifth victory in 14 games.

KALAMAZOO (AP)—Aquinas led from the early moments and had little trouble in scoring a 73-57 basketball victory over Kalamazoo Wednesday night. Gary Fewless led Aquinas with 27 points. Dale Southworth's 15 was high for Kalamazoo.

John Olson, former Escanaba Eskymo basketball, football and track star, is a member of the Michigan Tech varsity basketball team that has jumped off to a 10-1 season start. Olson, a sophomore, is a 6-5 forward who earned a letter as a freshman last season.

Drake Takes Turn Against Bearcats

By The Associated Press

Comes now Drake, full of high hopes and dim prospects. The Bulldogs, who have won only once in the Missouri Valley Conference this season, face the grim task of attempting to sidetrack Cincinnati's mighty Bearcats tonight in the top game on the nation's college basketball schedule.

The only other major undefeated teams in the country—Loyola of Chicago and Niagara—also put their perfect records on the line with only Niagara anticipating major difficulties.

Niagara, with a 9-0 season record, heads into the heavy part of its schedule against rebounding Georgetown, D.C., tonight and follows against tough Providence. Georgetown sports only an 8-7 mark, but has won its last six. Cincinnati and Chicago Loyola, ranked 1-2 in the country, are heavy favorites over Drake and Washington of St. Louis, respectively.

Another key game pits Wake Forest against South Carolina. The Deacons will be seeking sole Wake moved into a share of the ACC lead Wednesday night on the strength of a 79-70 triumph over North Carolina State. It boosted the Deacons' season record to 9-4, but 7-0 in the conference.

West Virginia's brilliant combination of Rod Thorn and Jim McCormick led the Mountaineers to a 114-67 rout of Florida, snapping a two-game West Virginia losing string. The Mountaineers now are 13-5 for the season.

Detroit blew all but one point of a 16-point lead, then recovered in time to upset Michigan 83-70.

See Higher Bid For Grid Classic

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The new television contract for the National Football League's title game is expected to result in frantic bidding that will top the old high of $615,000 in the pact that expired with the 1962 game.

Commissioner Pete Rozelle said Wednesday he would call for bids prior to the spring meetings, the date and site of which have not been set.

As the contract jumped from $200,000 to $615,000 in the last negotiation, a healthy increase is probable, possibly as high as $750,000 for one game.

The contract for regular season games runs through 1963. That calls for $4,650,000 a year. The owners will discuss instructions for bidding on a renewal at the spring meeting.

In 1962, the regular season games were carried by one network (CBS) and the title game by another (NBC).

The NFL completed its regular business Wednesday. The owners will work out their pre-season exhibition schedules before leaving for home today. Each club will announce its schedule later.

The league renewed the Playoff Bowl game at Miami's Orange Bowl for one year. The game, played between the second-place teams in the league's Eastern and Western Conferences, is held the Sunday following the title game.

One minor rule change will give the offensive team more room to operate in a punting situation inside its own 15. To avoid the chance of the goal posts hindering the punter, the ball will be moved sideways to the hash marks 20 yards from the sidelines.

Howe Tallies Two For Wings

By The Associated Press

Gordie Howe, an old hand at winning National Hockey League scoring championships, has projected himself right in the thick of the race in triggering the Detroit Red Wings into title contention.

Howe, who will be 35 a month from today, continues to show the younger fellows in the league just how it's done. The powerful right winger scored twice and contributed a picture-book assist in the Wings' 6-1 lacing of the Rangers in New York Wednesday night.

The victory, in the only game played, enabled Detroit to move to within three points of Toronto and Montreal, tied for second, and five points of league-leading Chicago. The fourth-place Wings also pulled away from the fifth-place Rangers, opening up a 16-point bulge over New York.

Howe, a four-time scoring leader, collected three points, giving him 49 for the season. This placed him just one point behind the co-leaders, Frank Mahovlich of Toronto and Johnny Bucyk of Boston.

Unknown Girl Breaks Record

FREDERICK, Md. (AP)—At a minor indoor track meet in Baltimore last Saturday, a 15-year-old school girl competed in the women's 50-yard low hurdles.

Tammy Davis of Frederick, who stands 5-foot-3 and weighs 113, ran in rubber-soled cross-country shoes on a slick, waxed floor covered with dust. Skimming effortlessly over hurdles higher than her waist, she won the event in 6.8 seconds.

Her victory didn't generate much enthusiasm at the lightly-attended meet sponsored by the Cross City Club of Baltimore—until it was later discovered that her time was a national women's indoor record.

Mrs. Libuse Lomsky of Baltimore, a former Czech hurdles star, said after the meet that Tammy could have cut three-tenths of a second from her time with a better track surface, spike shoes and a strong field.

Tammy is a member of the Frederick Track and Field Club. So is another 15-year-old, long-legged Debbie Thompson, the youngest girl ever named to a U.S. track team.

Another untouted pro was Pat Schwab of Wilmington, De. He shot a 68 opening round to tie with Tommy Aaron, Dave Hill and Bo Winingier.

Bunched at 69 with Nicklaus were Tommy Bolt, Jimmy Demaret, George Bayer, Johnny Pott, John Cook, Jay Hebert and Moon Mullins.

There was only one near-miss reported for the $50,000 hole-in-one prize. Jim Ferrier's 3-iron shot stopped 3 feet short of the pin on the 217 yard 12th hole at Eldorado, one of the four selected holes for the prize.

Kneec, 27, of Aiken, S.C., had eight birdies, three bogeys and needed only 28 putts in his 34-32 card round at Indian Wells.

Bob Shave Jr., of Willoughby, Ohio was tied with Player at 67.

Wolverines Lose Third Straight

DETROIT (AP)—The finest Michigan basketball team in 15 years is becoming like the others. "We were outgunned, that's all," said Coach Dave Strack after his Wolverines were upset 83-70 Wednesday night by Detroit's Titans. "We were out - everything, including out-coached."

Just three weeks ago Strack's team held a 10-1 record. It was hailed as Michigan's best since the 1948 Big Ten champions.

Few Michigan teams of recent vintage had been able to win 10 games over an entire season. But the Wolverines now have lost their last three. And the outlook isn't promising unless Bill Buntin recovers quickly from the knee injury suffered against Detroit.

Buntin, a 6-foot-7 sophomore with a 22.5 average, is credited for Michigan's emergence as a basketball power. He was hurt

Both fighters hit the deck in a novice welterweight scrap in an opening bout of the Upper Peninsula Golden Gloves tournament at the Holy Name gym last Saturday night. Referee Jack Phillips of Manistique moves in to help untangle Ted Beaudou and Jerry Bohan of Menominee. Beaudou won the decision and will return to action Saturday night in the tournament finals. # Sugar Ray Wins Split Decision

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson still is plodding down that long, long road with an unpopular split decision over Ralph Dupas added to his 23-year record.

"It's disgusting. It makes you want to retire," said Dupas, the loser Wednesday night at the Miami Beach Convention Hall. "I clearly won and didn't get the decision. What can you do to win?"

Robinson, now 42 and a veteran of 167 pro fights dating back to 1940, was given the votes of referee Billy Reagan, 98-96, and Judge Barry Pearlman 97-94. Judge Jim Ruby voted for Dupas 98-94. The AP also had Dupas out front, 98-94.

The crowd of 6,232 that paid $25,558 one of Miami Beach's best fight gates, booed the decision. "If the fight was close," said Dupas, 27, of New Orleans, "he might have got it. But it wasn't even close."

Robinson, a six-time champion in the welter and middleweight division, had a 12 1/4-pound edge on Dupas at 162 pounds to 149 3/4 in the 10-round match. The faded Sugar proved he still could move came in stunning rapid succession.

Player Threatens Tourney Leaders

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Harold Kneec and Gardner Dickenson, each with opening rounds of 66, paced the $50,000 Palm Springs Golf Classic today, but Gary Player was close by with 67.

"I hope this doesn't sound like I'm bragging, but I can truthfully say my game right now is the best in my life," said the South African star.

His was the best card of golf's big three. U.S. Open champion Jack Nicklaus shot a 69 and defending champion Arnold Palmer had to scramble for a 71, par over the Indian Wells course. It is rated one of the easier of the four courses used in the marathon 90-hole tournament.

Bob Shave Jr., of Willoughby, Ohio was tied with Player at 67.

Northern Tackles Ferris Institute

MARQUETTE—Northern Michigan College, its four-game winning streak snapped by powerful Mankato (Minn.) State 77-70 Tuesday, will put its unblemished home record on the line Friday night against Ferris Institute (12-1), the winningest team in the state.

Coach Stan Albeck's Wildcats are unbeaten at home in eight games while compiling a 1-4 record on the road. Their solo road triumph came last Saturday against Calvin College, 97-86.

Ferris, the state's NAIA defending champion, has rolled up eleven consecutive victories since suffering an early season loss to Kentucky State during the Northern Michigan Classic in Marquette. The Wildcats downed the

MANISTIQUE

Mrs. Paul and her Mona Lisa (Harbin's Studio)

Gulliver Has Only PO With Mona Lisa

The little town of Gulliver east of Manistique doesn't claim any Lilliputians of Swift's Gulliver Travel fame, but it does claim to have the only Post Office building with a Mona Lisa painting.

While the National Gallery of Art in Washington, D. C., has the original Mona Lisa on loan from the Louvre in Paris, and the Soviets claim the original is still hanging in Leningrad, the Gulliver painting of the famous lady of the smile serenely hangs in the office of Mrs. Stella Brunet Paul, postmaster.

It has a beautiful antique frame in baroque design, 28 by 38 inches, found in the old Ossawinawake Hotel about a week before it was torn away.

The frame is about 70 years old and when found was dirty and dusty and had a garish cigar ad. The ad was for Washington Irving 10-cent cigars.

Mrs. Paul purchased a realistic oil print of the Mona Lisa and had the frame cut to fit it. Its heavy coats of varnish were removed. Gilt was applied to highlight the baroque frame for the picture "which has generated more nonsense than any other art work in history, Mrs. Paul reports.

Blue And Gold Banquet Feb. 9

Cub Scout Pack 402 will hold its annual Blue and Gold Banquet Saturday, Feb. 9 at 6 p. m., at the Elks Club. Potluck supper will precede the charter presentation. Skits and awards will be presented. Boy Scout week begins Feb. 7 through 13. All Cub and Boy Scouts are asked to wear uniforms to school on Feb. 7. Sunday, Feb. 10 is Scout Sunday. As in other years, all parochial Cub and Boy Scouts are asked to meet in uniform at the school at 7:45 a. m., and attend 8 a. m., mass in a body. All other boys are asked to attend their respective churches in uniform on that day. It is planned to have a Scout window display again this year. This display will be in the building formerly occupied by Spillers Upholstery on Deer St. All boys must have their displays there by 10 a. m., Feb. 7.

Mrs. Paul submitted to surgery at University Hospital in Ann Arbor Monday. She is in room 12 west.

You Too Can Hunt African Elephants

FORT PORTAL, Uganda (AP) —Take out a $63 license, add a measure of effort and skill, and you too can be an elephant hunter—if you come to the middle of Africa.

This is the starting point for many hunters seeking some of the world's biggest elephants. A familiar sight in the streets of Fort Portal is a Jeep-like Land Rover back from the hunt and carrying huge ivory tusks as trophies.

To the north is Murchison Falls Park where elephants, hippos and giraffes are seen. To the south is Queen Elizabeth Park where more herds of elephants, leopards and the fearsome tree-climbing lions roam the great plains. To the west, across the snow-capped Ruwenzori Mountains, are the Congo forests, teeming with big game of all sorts. Also nearby is Park Albert, the major wild life preserve of the Congo.

Wide Choice of Game

The animals are protected in the parks, but much of the forest and bush country outside of the parks is set aside as game preserves and controlled hunting areas that give the hunter a wide choice of game.

Bill Young of Chicago, an engineer who helps build schools and churches for Africans at the Holy Cross Fathers Mission in Fort Portal, also is an avid hunter. He has shot water bucks, Uganda kob and topi on various safaris. Recently he spent part of vacation on his first attempt at elephants.

Young took along a friend who is an experienced hunter, plus three Africans used as trackers. In a hunting area to the south of the Kazinga Channel and in the general area of Lakes Edward and George, they went into a section that has shoulder high brush, a typical feeding ground for elephants.

The hunters had 375 Magnum rifles, the smallest big game weapon that can be used in elephant hunting.

They spotted more than 50 elephants and several hippos by a pond.

"But what we didn't know was that there was an elephant that was isolated from the herd, and near us, who apparently picked up our scent. He started running which warned the herd and they stampeded away from us," Young said.

One Tusk 44 Pounds

Later Young and his friend came to a clearing and spotted their prize—a big bull elephant with big tusks at the other edge of the clearing.

When Young got the elephant broadside to him, he fired his first shot, hitting the beast just above a leg, near the heart.

The elephant ran off, snorting. The hunters and trackers chased it about three-quarters of a mile before it collapsed. During this time Young fired another shot into the heart and one into the brain.

One tusk weighed 44 pounds, the other 42. This is average in East

TICKET TO OBLIVION

Maid of the Mist ticket booth in grip of Niagara's ice.

After the crunch, booth is crushed like a paper toy.

It took Old Man Winter and a king-size ice jam to punch a one-way ticket to oblivion for the Maid of the Mist ticket booth at foot of the American Falls, Niagara Falls, N.Y. Legions of tourists have purchased tickets at the booth, 36 feet above river level, for the spray-drenched ride aboard the "Maids," the tiny streamers which brave the churning waters.

Group On Aging Plans Feb. 12 Meet

The Escanaba Committee on Aging in its first meeting last night since appointment by the city council planned a meeting on Feb. 12 with Floyd Wallace, field representative of the Michigan Commission on Aging here.

This meeting will consider:

1. A survey of community needs of older persons and the extent of such needs.

2. Setting of a local Senior Citizens Corps to use the talents of the elderly in the service of the community and to help them do things for themselves.

Charles Follo is acting as temporary chairman of the committee in the absence of Mrs. John Walch.
